WE APPEAL TO

all Princetonians who are anxious to share their Holidays with others — with others whose ways of life and hopes for the future force them to remain in the shadows where Christmas can be one more long, gray day.

Because Christmas, particularly in a world shaken by war and besieged by fears and nagging doubts, is a season for inner as well as outer joy, and because all too seldom do those thirsting for happiness and a sense of belonging come to feel that Christmas can also be for them, TOWN TOPICS presents for the entire Princeton community a sampling of case-histories which have been carefully documented by the Family Service Agency.

There are among us dozens of boys and girls and an ever-growing number of adults who have been struck down as any of us might be struck down. They range in age from toddlers and seemingly mature teen-agers to desperately concerned men and women and they could be rightfully called Princeton's "perplexed, or forgotten few." While their basic, every-day needs, such as shelter, food and medicines, are met by the established welfare services, what they need — and crave above all else — is the assurance that human beings are important, and never more so than at this time of year.

Most often it is the inching paralysis of worry and loneliness and uncertainty, whether forcing 10-year-old Ted M. to cry uncontrollably in school or causing 80-year-old Mr. A. to withdraw into a world of his own, that is hard to define, even more difficult to resolve. The unseen problems of the individual and the complicated relationships between human beings are crucial issues on which lives can be wrecked beyond salvage — unless, somehow or other, they are given the kind of thoughtful assistance and guidance which are even more important than tinsel or bright lights, or laughter around the Christmas table.

UPWARDS FROM DESPAIR

Mr. and Mrs. Y. and their two young sons are gradually but surely climbing upwards from the abyss of despair. Some months ago Mr. Y. lost his job and the family was threatened with eviction because of the slovenly condition of their modest apartment. Reluctantly Mr. Y. turned to a Family Service staff member who pieced together a saga of a crumbling family.

Mr. Y., a hard-working and devoted husband, frequently had to stay home to care for the children; his wife, a part-time factory employee, had found the combined responsibilities of a job and running a household so overwhelming that she sought relief in alcohol. Most often her way of escape, when completely intoxicated, was to retire to bed, leaving to Mr. Y. the multiple roles of mother and father and provider.

Mr. Y.'s discharge jolted his wife into the realization that her drinking was tearing their life apart and to agreeing to continuing counselling. As Mrs. Y. is learning to become an effective mother, and with her husband once again working full-time, it is apparent that many of her difficulties were rooted in her own precarious hand-to-mouth childhood. Not having received anything resembling loving care, she had little, if any, conception of the challenges and joys of motherhood.

KAY D., AGE 6

The following paragraphs have been condensed from a social worker's copious notes:

"Kay D. is a bright, out-going 6-year old who came to our attention through her school. In spite of her abilities, she was unable to concentrate on her work and seemed to cling to adults expressing any kind of

John D. Wallace Will Be Township Mayor

Republican John D. Wallace will be the next mayor of Princeton Township, succeeding Carl C. Schafer Jr.

Committeeman Wallace's colleague, William L. Wilson, said this week that he plans to nominate Mr. Wallace for the post at the Township Committee reorganization meeting on New Year's Day.

Committeeman Harry J. Volkieder will second the nomination, the two newly elected Democratic Committeemen are said to be in agreement, and Mr. Wallace has agreed to accept.

In Princeton Township, all five Committeemen have equal status and there is no publicly - elected "mayor." Instead, the Committeemen elect one of their own number to serve as chairman, a title synonymous with "mayor."

"As mayor, I hope we can continue Committee's nonpartisan approach to Township problems," Mr. Wallace said this week. I also look forward to increased cooperation with the Borough, with Mayor Patterson and with all the other municipalities in our area."

John D. Wallace

"I'm almost at the point where I think we should examine Borough - Township consolidation once again . . . ." The last consolidation study was completed in 1965.

Mr. Wallace, 35, was born on Lincoln's birthday in 1933 and he will be the Township's youngest mayor. In the community as a whole however, he takes second place to Minot C. Morgan Jr., who became mayor of the Borough when he was 32.

Mr. Wallace has another distinction: he is the only mayor whose father was also mayor. John H. Wallace of 186 Library Place was Township mayor in 1950.

The new mayor is a native of Princeton. He attended Nassau Street School, Princeton Country Day School and prepared for Princeton University at Hotchkiss. He was graduated from Princeton in 1955 and is now assistant vice-president of the First Trenton National Bank in the Trust Division.

In addition to being a Committeeman — he was elected to the three-year term in 1966 — Mr. Wallace is also a member of the Township Planning Board, having been appointed in 1962. After his election to Committee, he was named Committee representative to the Board.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace and their three children live at 100 Braeburn Drive.

DOGS AND FURTHERMORE

In Township. "Is it true that not one of you is willing to stick his neck out and introduce a stronger dog ordinance?"

The incredulous questioner, Mrs. William Enders, addressed Township Committee Monday night at one of the most contentious gatherings in some time.

During the evening:

- Committee was threatened with a referendum if it doesn't act on a dog ordinance.
- Protest against requiring property owners to pay for sidewalk repair was so heated that Committee tabled the ordinance for its own repair.
- Princeton's taxi - drivers charged "you broke our backs" by allowing one airport limousine service in town but Committee gave its consent to a second anyway.

Dogs. "You promised up a public meeting in the fall on dogs and now it's December," was Mrs. Enders' patient opener.

Her colleague, Mrs. William Angoff, president of the P.T.A. P.T.O. Council, sent Committee a letter citing the 1,400 signatures on a dog leash ordinance petition, and asking for a public statement on what Committee plans to do. Enclosed were statments from the principals of John Witherspoon, Riverside, and Little brook schools asking for stern measures.

The question "did Committee promise an autumnal dog hearing?" raised such dust that deputy clerk Michael Zuzov was dispatched to dig out the minutes. The word "promise," it turned out, was never actually used.

"You told us a summer dog hearing would be unfair because people are away," Mrs. Enders persisted. "We have the right to know your precise plan of action — or lack of it. We refuse to wait until a child is seriously injured."

Administrator Joseph R. Nini reported that he and Police Lt. Richard Steiner had drawn up recommendations "to put more teeth into the ordinance." He had thought the matter would be presented publicly after election. Now, he said, the present Committee goes out of office December 31 so dogs must wait until January.

Committeeman William L. Wilson then admitted that nobody on Committee had a dog ordinance to introduce, and that some Committeemen don't want to act at all.

Present Law Is Unpopular.

"There's no use introducing an ordinance that wouldn't pass," he said, adding quickly that "nobody on Committee is happy with the present ordinance."

"Do we have to go through a referendum?" Mrs. Angoff asked. Committeeman John Wallace said he didn't think so. Mayor Schafer said gloomily that a referendum would divide the community . . . William Cherry urged a referendum so Committeemen wouldn't have to be publicly labeled as dog-lovers or non-dog-lovers.

"You haven't played fair and I'm appalled!" charged Mrs. Benson Durlin. "You said you'd introduce an ordinance this fall . . ."

"We thought we had a timetable and we should have one!" exclaimed W. S. Detwiler.

Mr. Wallace said he was unhappy about the six months' delay and Mr. Wilson admitted he was disappointed with the results of stricter enforcement of the present dog law.

Sidewalks. On sidewalk repair, the Rev. Olin D. McGowan, 12 Race St., said again what he said the last time sidewalks were discussed: "Why should a property-owner have to pay for the repair of a sidewalk damaged by the roots of a Township-owned tree? I said this the last time I was here. Why are you afraid to put it in?"

interest or affection. She was underweight, inadequately dressed and had not received obviously needed medical attention. Kay's mother was initially suspicious and possibly resentful of Family Service, expecting that she might be blamed for her daughter's problems.

"However, she was gradually made aware that our concern was also for her and the burdens she was carrying in raising 3 children alone. As we succeeded in finding medical services and care for her children while she worked, Mrs. D. became more and more anxious to examine her feelings for Kay. The child had not been wanted and Mrs. D. once tended to see her as being like the father – who had deserted Mrs. D. when she needed him most."

"Once Mrs. D. had identified the source of her anger, she could see Kay as a little girl urgently in need of her mother's attention and love rather than as a person making demands upon her. We are moving steadily ahead and are encouraged by the response of mother and daughter alike."

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

Ruth B., a high school junior of marked potential, and her dedicated mother are beginning to share experiences after long, often stormy months of misunderstandings and arguments. The generation gap, with one seeking a reasonable amount of "teen-age freedom and the other even monitoring all telephone calls from both girls and boys, became so divisive that Ruth was being driven to "doing something drastic" and, rather than accounting for every second of her day, was planning to free an incomprehensibly restrictive atmosphere. Fortunately, they both sought assistance.

Out of a round of interviews, the need for which is steadily decreasing, a sense of partnership has evolved. The 17-year old has gained a normal degree of freedom and privacy and the mother has found that she had been haunted by painful memories of a beloved younger sister's nervous collapse just at the time the latter began "dating" and enjoying a measure of independence.

MR. AND MRS. H.

Bitter and cruel words filled the lives of Mr. and Mrs. H. who felt that their world was collapsing around them. Although Mrs. H. was physically and emotionally exhausted by the 24-hour care required by their frightfully handicapped 6-year old son, they could not bring themselves to accept the institutionalization of their defective child, the youngest of three. They wanted to keep their marriage but, in the face of grinding worry, had all but forgotten their earlier satisfactions and happiness. Added to this was the understandable resentment of the two older youngsters who sensed that their mother's love and energies were TOWNSHIP TO APPEAL Post Office Decision. Princeton Township doesn't think that just because a private property-owner leases his land to the federal government he is thereby immune to a community's zoning laws.

Township Committee will therefore appeal the November 18 decision of Superior Court Judge Clifton C. Bennett that favored the Thanet Corporation. Thanet has leased its five-acre plot on North Harrison Street to the United States Post Office Department for construction of a new Princeton post office building.

Committee made the decision Monday night after listening to its attorney, Gordon Griffin, and the Township Zoning Board attorney, Ivan C. Bash. The appeal must be filed with the Superior Court's Appelate Division 45 days after the judgment has been entered to enter the judgement shortly.

In September, 1967, the Township zoning board unanimously turned down Thanet's request for a variance to build the post office on the North Harrison site. Thanet then filed a complaint in Superior Court against the Zoning Board and Township Committee.

The appeal has nothing to do with the merits of the Harrison Street parcel as a post office location. The two newly-elected Township Committeemen, Thomas Hartmann and James Floyd, who had opposed North Harrison as a post office location during the election campaign, sat in on Monday night's discussion.

UPPER HOUSE BURNS Tuesday at Lawrenceville. Upper House, a picturesque ivy-coated dormitory built in 1890 for the senior class at Lawrenceville School, was gutted by fire Tuesday afternoon.

Flames broke out about 4 o'clock in the third-story room of Mark Freedman, awakening him from a nap when a curtain began to burn. The extinguisher he used ran out and the fire spread rapidly. Before scores of firemen from nearly a dozen companies in the area left the scene five hours later, the third floor and much of the roof had been destroyed.

Smoke and water damaged the first two floors extensively. No estimate of the loss was given but expectations are that it will run well into six figures. Most of the 91 seniors and resident faculty members lost all of their possessions.

Cause of the fire was not officially announced but there was speculation that it was electrical. All students but one reserved for their retarded brother alone. The positive relationship developed with the caseworker is enabling Mr. and Mrs. H to grasp the importance of placement for their child and to combat the tensions which threatened to warp the lives of two completely normal children.

THE SPECTRE OF DISEASE

The spectre of relentless disease hovers above Mr. and Mrs. L and their 10 year old daughter. In Mrs. L's words: "I have an incurable disease which means I must take medicine every day for the rest of my life. When I have medicine, we cannot always have food." In desperation this gentle, bewildered couple turned to Family Service. They are now taking advantage of the Food Stamp Program; clinical medical care is being provided, and, with ongoing guidance, there is every reason to believe that the L's can survive as a family.

UNWED MOTHER

Miss C., an appealing Japanese in her 20's, asked for help only after it had become compellingly apparent that she and her 2-year old daughter were waging a losing battle in a land she barely knows. The child's father is an American serviceman who, shortly before M. was born, was returned to the United States, leaving Miss C. with promises of marriage and no means of support. Somehow or other Miss C. scrimped and saved and accumulated enough funds to come to this country in the hope of persuading the father to accept his responsibilities.

This was not to be the case and, because of the handicaps of language, Miss C. struggled in unskilled posts providing a marginal existence. Becoming more and more frightened by her inadequacies, she finally approached Family Service to determine whether or not there were any ways for her to receive funds from the father. Miss C., a proud and courageous mother, has been given every possible assistance and, today in a job more in line with her education, is beginning to participate in community activities and to plan for the future.

* * * * * *

Amount needed, upwards of $2,500 to enable the Family Service Agency and allied community services to extend to these neighbors of ours the thoughtful and highly specialized help which will guide them through the maze of bewilderment and could well mean the difference between despair and hope, between apathy and faith in the things that count. These, and many, many others, need encouragement that can restore the hope and understanding which will rekindle aspirations for the years ahead.

THIS APPEAL IS MADE ONLY IN TOWN TOPICS. THERE WILL BE NO OTHER SOLICITATIONS OF ANY KIND AND NO ONE BUT YOU WILL EVER KNOW WHETHER OR NOT YOU PASS IT BY.

Checks should be made payable to The Town Topics Christmas Fund and mailed to Town Topics, P. O. Box 661, Princeton, New Jersey. Every penny contributed goes for the benefit of those for whom we make this 22nd Annual Christmas Appeal.

Talent in Two Generations--Scotty Bloch and Son, Andy

FAMILY PORTRAIT: Scotty Bloch and her son, Andy, have never acted together, but their Princeton acting assignments this fall have overlapped in a way that makes life busy and exciting in the Blochs' Jefferson Road home.

News Of The THEATRES

When it's curtaintime in the Bloch household, Mother Scotty Bloch and son Andy Bloch both move toward the footlights.

Mrs. Bloch will open this Friday in the demanding part of Mary Tyrone in Theatre Intime's production of Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night."

Andy, who is 17, and a senior at Princeton High School, played the young King Arthur in the Thanksgiving weekend production of "King to Be" at McCarter Theatre.

"I've been acting ever since I was in kindergarten," Mrs. Bloch begins.

"My first part was Dopey in 'Snow White' when I was in sixth grade," Andy recalls.

The kindergarten star ("I was a little old lady in a rocking chair. . . .") later attended the American Academy, studied with Michael Howard who is now the artistic director of the municipal theatre in Atlanta, and at the moment is working with Alan Miller.

"Comedy has always been the easiest and the most fun for me," Mrs. Bloch says, and she begins her list of comedy credits: "Dear Ruth," "You Can't Take It With You," "My Sister Eileen," and happiest of all, Billie in "Born Yesterday."

For some time, the Bloch family lived in Geneva, and during those years Mrs. Bloch acted in community theatres in Switzerland.

"But in Europe, community theatre is professional theatre," she explains. "We had professional directors, and worked in professional companies."

"I Love Mary" Here in Geneva, she played in Swinburne's "Miss Julie," . . . "the most difficult and taxing part I had until this opportunity to do Mary Tyrone, and what a beautiful, beautiful role Mary is!"

Young and alert, and short, wavy hair and trim slacks, Mrs. Bloch doesn't remind you of the tortured Mary.

"I will never find everything there is in Mary Tyrone," she mused, thumbing through her script, "but she's such a rich character that even if I find some of her, I'll be happy."

"And of course, it's so wonderful to be working like THIS again!" she laughs. Because she has been playing extras on TV soap operas and radio and TV commercials.

Mrs. Bloch is enthusiastic about her undergraduate colleagues at Theatre Intime.

"A wonderful group of boys and wonderful to work with. The director, Ed Townley is so sensitive, so dedicated to the play."

Andy Acts, Too. Her affection for talented young actors goes straight back to young Andy Bloch, the erstwhile Dopey.

"That was when I was in school in Geneva, and then I did Hark in Thurber's 'The 13 Clock's, but after that I didn't do a thing until I came to Princeton—until I was in 10th grade, as a matter of fact."

Quiet, rather shy, so learned in French that he takes courses at Princeton University, Andy made up in 10th grade for those four missing theatrical years. At Princeton High, he has played the Stage Manager in "Pullman Car Hiawatha;" Rudolph in "A View from the Bridge," several parts in "Spoon River Anthology," and the old Shakespearean actor in "The Fantasticks."

This past summer, he spent nine weeks at the Lexington Center for Performing Arts in Lexington, N. Y. and, perhaps in fond recapitulation of the mute Dopey in sixth grade, what he enjoyed most was mime.

Three Lovely Lines. Back in Princeton High this fall, Andy was tapped when McCarter Theatre called the school and asked for an extra to play in "As You Like It."

"I had three lines as Dennis, and I played a forester and a page, too!"

Just about this time, Andy won the part of the son in Community Players' "The Subject Was Roses." McCarter's stage manager saw him in the part, and since McCarter needed a new King Arthur, Andy found himself pulling the sword from the stone before he was even in uniform.

"It was funny about 'The Subject Was Roses,'" Mrs. Bloch recalls. "The son in that play is 25, and Andy is only 17! But he said 'I want to try out anyway' and of course, he got the part."

"That was his greatest thrill—up to then," and Mrs. Bloch smiles across the room at her son, "but almost immediately, there he was—working at McCarter!"

PLAYERS TO PERFORM

"Barefoot in the Park." The Pennington Players will perform Neil Simon's play, "Barefoot in the Park," at 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, at the Timberlane Junior High School.

Tickets will be on sale at the door, or may be purchased in advance by calling Mrs. Thomas Deverell, 737 2968, or Mrs. Richard Scheetz, 737 2271.

The comedy production will star Lalor Cadley and Robert Peck of Princeton. Other leading roles are portrayed by Mary Reese and Michael Orlando, of Hopewell; Ray Howe, of Pennington, and Walter Tienken. Miss Cosy Spitzer is director, assisted by Miss Sandra Jefferson.

IT'S NEW To Us

EARLY UP

And To The Track . . Christmas shopping is like a day at the races.

Some of us just pick a horse and it's trial-and-error all the way. Others get out their pencils, pour over the forms and study the odds.

We've been browsing around at a great rate to help you bring in some Christmas winners. Among the entries:

Big Gifts
For Small Fry

Most children receive among their presents one "big gift" that answers a dream and is the ace show 'n tell to the neighbor kids.

Stuff 'n Nooseose on Moore Street has the famous Pelham Puppets with color-keyed strings for easy control, and a simple twist mechanism for untangling the strings. You'll find heros and princesses and storybook figures.

For girls, an exquisitely ruffled four-poster bed and canopy ($12), and for small boys, realistic mustangs complete with a Western saddle and a rifle for warning off rustlers. (About 12-inches high, with rollers inside the hooves that make them very mobile, and very sturdy.) $10.

And the famous Sturbridge Furniture for doll houses, perfect down to the last drawer pull, all with working hinges and drawers. ($2.50 to $12 each).

The B-52 Stratocruiser with a 30-inch wingspan, a jet-sound engine and working parts is at the Hobby Center on Nassau. It's a tremendous, imposing kit. ($11.88) Another giant is the Center's German Tank IV F2, which can be radio-controlled.

The table top steam engines at the Hobby Center are fascinating to any schoolboy who wants a scientific, workable gift. The engines run with solid alcohol fuel, and they power small grinding wheels, dynamos, even a saw that cuts balsa wood. ($11.98 up; the saw is $2.25) There's also a scientific "Old Smokey," a steam roller that operates at various speeds.

You'll find Microscopes (50-power to 1200-power lenses,) made by the well-known optical firm, Tasco, and all are metal. (Figure cost up to $24.95). You can also buy at the Hobby Center prepared slides for your young scientist: bacteria, crystals, insects' wings, ants, and so on—at the rate of a dozen for $1.29).

Electric trains at the Hobby Center are in such variety that you'll be delighted. There are HO gauge, O-gauge and N-gauge, all with scaled to size accessories for a true-to-life railroad pike.

It's a matter of space and the manual skillfulness of the child you're buying for: HO if you have plenty of room; O-gauge if you plan a layout about the size of a closet door, or N-gauge if you want a layout that fits on the top of the coffee table.

(You can also buy the 3-foot lengths of Flextrak at the Hobby Center, to bend into the degree curve you want or to eliminate many pieces of straight track.)

If you're lucky, Merle Zinder will give you an on-the-spot demonstration of the "Pop Car" at his Nassau Street Store. He telescopes his 6-ft., 175 lbs. in and on the car and zooms around.

It's a bright red little sidewalk model that is battery-operated and precision made, with the age 3 to 7 group in mind. It goes backward, forward, around in a circle. Has headlights and horn that work. Take your foot off the "gas" pedal and it stops dead in a second. Charge the battery overnight in a wall socket.

Zinder's is well stocked with most of the toys that are advertised on television — the walking robots and fabulous dolls and such that the kids are clamoring for.

We saw the General Electric chord organ, a tabletop instrument with a nice tone. It comes with an instruction and music book. ($23.95)

Zinder's also has the Go-Go cars and Go-Go cycles that the original campus presentations by the two groups.

Revue Club are composed of members of the Dramatic Societies of the two universities. A small group is touring the United States during this Christmas season with the latest offering.

McCarter has announced reduced ticket prices for the revue and tickets are now on sale.

PREMIERE THIS WEEK

For Student Film Festival. The First Princeton University Student Film Festival, consisting of ten original 16mm and 8 mm films, will be held at 8:00 p.m. Friday, in McCosh 10 on the University campus.

The festival will reveal the work of student film makers and includes a football film, fantasies of a dying Spanish peasant and a reel set to the music of the Beatles.

Admission is 75c and all proceeds will be used to purchase equipment for the film making group. The students have been participating in workshops supported by a University donation.

POLYNESIA EXPLORED

In Waterman Film. Princeton resident, Stan Waterman, well-known underwater photographer and explorer will narrate his newest film, "The Two Worlds of Polynesia," Tuesday at the Princeton Playhouse. Showtime is 7:30 p.m.

Tickets for the film, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, are $1.75 for adults, $1 for students.

Mr. Waterman spent a year on the islands of French Polynesia shooting more than seven miles of film. Taking his cameras both to the clear lagoons and the deep water outside the barrier reefs, he caught such rare sights as the aquabatics of the giant manta rays, and the weird ballet of the garden eels.

Above water he has scenes of the Waterman children learning to sail the swift sailing canoes, a slide down a 400 foot waterfall, and an interview with the widow of James N. Hall, co-author of "Mutiny On The Bounty." Another original music score was written and recorded for the film by Brooks Jones.

A graduate of Dartmouth College and naval veteran of the last war, Mr. Waterman has made several films, which have appeared frequently on national television. His film, "Quest for the Sacred Dolphin," made on an expedition more than 1,000 miles up the Amazon, was sponsored by Westinghouse on the ABC network. He lives at 16 Hunter Road with his wife and three children.

Tryouts Scheduled

The American premiere of Lawrence Durrell's "An Irish Faustus" and a revival of Ben Jonson's "The Alchemist" will be given this winter by Theatre Intime and tryouts have been scheduled for both plays. The auditions are open to everyone.

Auditions for "The Alchemist" will be held this Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 in Murray Theatre on the University campus.

"Faustus" tryouts will be held next Monday and Tuesday at 4:30 and next Wednesday at 7:30. Those interested in trying out for the Durrell play are asked to check the bulletin board inside the theatre for additional details.

PLAYHOUSE

Duffy (now playing) Susannah York, and the three Jamesses—Coburn, Mason and Fox, in a funny, campy story of a hippie heist that will attract young swingers and confuse their elders.

James Coburn is one of the movies' prime anti-heroes, and here he is again, wending his charming, slightly irreverent, more than slightly illegal way through a high-voltage film about crime for kicks.

The story is slight, dealing with the generation gap as personified by a wealthy, cynical James Mason; a son who seems to be his match (James Fox), and a comical, slightly retarded son, John Alderton.

Susannah York is Fox's kooky girl friend who helps in the frantically-paced heist of $2 million. She's in love with three men at a time and distributes her favors according.

GARDEN

Film Festival (starts this Thurs.) is a seven-day chance to see some of the best of the motion pictures of the past several years. Included are the comedies "I'm All Right, Jack" and "The Two of Us," the very beautiful foreign film "Elvira Madigan, and such character studies as "Nothing But a Man" and "Accident." (For the full listing, see the Garden advertisment on page 6) younger children admire. These are sidewalk size; the kids sit in them and back up to wind up the "motor." When they lift their feet, they're off and away, dead ahead.

PRINCE

The Swinging Wooder is still with us. The Game Room on Nassau Street is on it's third re-order. The swinging steel balls create patterns that illustrate Newton's third law — that action and re-action are equal and opposite.

A man we heard of sets it to hanging away in twos and threes when he's deep in concentration. Helps, somebow. Otherwise, its fun and fascinating. $(7.95.)

The Game Room also has action games for small teams of kids, like "Skittles" and "Tippecanoe."

And the intriguing Fischertechnik kits, filled with precision-made cog wheels, gears, elbow joints, and blocks for constructing action models such as cars, trucks, cranes. Buy a motor for your advanced builder. The construction possibilities are unlimited. Made of hard - wearing durable nylon, attractively colored.

Thinking About Clothes . . .

The English Shop has winter knits in pale shades. Particularly attractive is a white knit, with sparkles throughout the fabric, trimming the short sleeves and Mandarin collar as well.

We also like a beige basket-weave knit with a crepe top and sash. Sleeveless and very feminine. ($50.) And the sleeveless shift with a stand-away collar. It come in white, pink or beige.

For the more formal at-home entertaining you have in mind, the English Shop carries Pendleton's long tweed skirts in pastel mixtures of blue, green, pink and gold ($25.), and there are solid color sweaters to match.

Our favorite among the large collection of Lyle & Scott knitwear was a soft shetland wool sweater - dress in heavenly colors of blue, lavender, salmon, red, and pink. The top is crew-necked, with flat cables down the front, and there's a sash tie belt. ($27.50)

The L & S sweaters come in cardigans, turtle necks, crew necks, some with cables, some not, all marvelously soft lambswool. The matching skirts range from size 6 to 18.

While you're in the English Shop, the imported Austrian and German jackets may be just what you've been seeking. Most are piped in contrasting braid and lined in quaint prints. They are wool, very durable — and handsome. Lengths vary from short, short jackets to full-length coats. There's a car coat in bright green with blue trim and a white jacket with embroidered flowers and green trim. Tyrolian whimsies.

Stacy's in the Lawrenceville Shopping Center has some very plush skirts in corduroy, cut with the ribbing running around instead of up and down. It's a dirndl by Ellen Tracy with two pockets on the front. ($18; sizes 5/6 to 11/12).

They also have a dressy pants suit that no restaurant could refuse. It come is a tapestry fabric, with a long jacket and Nehru collar. We also noticed a nice dressy grey wool coat with silver buttons in a double line down the front, and a small, round collar. ($90.)

Or a Christmas dress, green worsted silk, (a very simple shift) with a jeweled button topping the pleat at the left knee. ($90, in misses sizes.)

From Paris, a one-of-a-kind coat in stunning black and white geometric weave. You'll find it at the Flemington Sample Shop, 27 Church Street. Around the neck, a small white mink collar. Black buttons on left the dormitory when the fire spread but senior Samuel Garst slept through more than an hour of the conflagration. Shortly before 5:30,, he was awakened from a nap and led out of his room on the first floor.

The Lawrenceville Fire Co. was the first on the scene and as the flames spread, calls were made to a number of nearby communities. Princeton was among those responding, as were Lawrence Road, Mercer and Pennington Road. Three firemen were treated for minor injuries.

Upper House, facing the tradition-steeped "circle" on the Lawrenceville campus, has played a major part in numerous stories about the school. Members of the administration are hopeful that it can be rebuilt.

ALL SIDES INVOLVED

In Schools Forum. A many-sided attack on the unrest in the Princeton schools will be made Sunday at the community "talk-in" scheduled for 3:30 to 8:30 in First Presbyterian Church.

The three panels are composed of whites and blacks, young and old, clergy and laymen, parents and students, theologians and school administrators, Christians, Jews and a young Moslem.

The forum is titled "Hard Realities—Real Hopes Regarding the Princeton Schools." It was inspired two weeks ago by the sudden resignation of Kenneth Michael as principal of Princeton High School.

"A problem festers when everyone assumes it is someone else's responsibility, or even better, fault," the announcement states. "A potential crisis is averted when individuals come to terms with hard reality in search for real hope!"

"Claiming a priority interest for all Princeton residents certainly should be a concern for our Princeton schools. The recent resignation of the principal of the high school illustrates clearly our need to be aware of some hard realities of the present situation and the discovery of ways to provide real hope for the future of our schools."

The dialogue is sponsored by the Christian Education Committee of First Presbyterian Church, chaired by Robert Andrus. Planners include the Rev. W. Robert Martin Jr. of the Fund for Theological Education, Dr. Philip McPherson, superintendent of Princeton Regional Schools; the Rev. Dr. Donald M. Meisel and the Rev. Eliot Daley of First Presbyterian Church.

The Inside Story

Now that old
December's here,
We'll poke the fire
And pour some cheer.

December's beginning has been mild and wet. If it turns cold and stays wet, get out the shovels.

Clearer, cooler weather is on the way, the Man reports. Blue skies, for whatever brief period of daylight this month provides, are expected to be the rule for the weekend.

Topics Of The Town

"The community is invited to participate in a 'dialogue,' 'symposium,' 'confrontation,'—call it what you will—on the subject of our schools," the announcement continues.

"It will attempt to be a thorough, unhurried afternoon and early evening when everyone will be welcome to voice opinions, advance ideas and together search out our responsibilities and priorities.

"As concerned citizens, we need to come to grips with the hard realities in order to pursue responsibly some real hope."

CENTER HAS NO PLANS

For Township Board. The Princeton Shopping Center's plans for a new A & P and a Bamberger's addition are still off in the wings, so far as the Township Planning Board is concerned.

The board wrote to George Warnecke, owner of the Center, informing him that it was placing whatever new plans he had on the agenda of the site-plan review board. Mr. Warnecke replied, according to the secretary of the board, that he had no new plans, and asked to be removed from the agenda.

At the Planning Board meeting next Monday night, the board will hold an informal discussion with representatives of the Princeton Church of Christ about their plans for building a church on property owned by Mrs. Maud Gilmer on River Road near the Kingston Bridge.

THREE HOMES ENTERED

In Borough. Three homes were entered last week in the Borough, two in the Western Section.

At 12:40 Sunday afternoon, Lewis C. Kleinhans called police to report that his home at 1 Westcott Road had been entered and the entire house ransacked.

Taken were a coin collection valued at less than $100; $15 in Roosevelt dimes; two antique pictures in leather frames; a silver loving cup and two glass-enclosed pictures.

Detective John J. Bellow checked the house for fingerprints after Ptl. Gerald Patterson made the initial investigation. Police said a latch on a front window had been forced to gain entry.

Five minutes after receiving a call from Mr. Kleinhans, police were notified by a neighbor that someone was inside the home of Alexander Everbine, 15 Hamilton Avenue.

Because the occupants are vacationing in Florida, police were unable tot determine if anything had been taken. They said a small pane of glass had been broken to unlock the rear door. Sgt. Ralph Procaccino and Detective Bellow investigated.

The Everline home was also entered about a month ago. On that occasion, the intruder was caught.

Burglar Caught. Saturday, Borough police apprehended a burglar inside the home of Richardson Dilworth, 141 Hodge Road. In his possession at the time were articles belonging to the Dilworths, according to Chief Peter J. McCrohan.

Apprehended was John E. Bembry, 56, of East Elmhurst, Queens, N. Y. He was charged with breaking and entering, larceny and possession of burglary tools.

He waived a preliminary hearing Monday before Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. and was sent to Mercer County Jail in lieu of $3,500 bail to await action by a grand jury. Police said Bembry was unemployed and had a long record of previous arrests.

Sgt. Robert Anderson, Ptl. Thomas Mischaud and Ptl. James Bibor participated in the arrest. They were alerted by an alarm system connected between the Dilworth home and police headquarters.

Mr. Agnes Reed, 144 Witherspoon Street, told police Saturday that someone had entered her rear door and stole beer and wine from her refrigerator and a few bananas. Ptl. William Hunter investigated.

Chief McCrohan said there was no relation between the entries. "All were separate incident," he said.

DIGGING ISN'T BUILDING

But Just Wait . . . Timothy Sheehan is scheduled to be served a summons by the Borough, probably next Monday, under the controversial "12-35" building permit clause of the new zoning ordinance.

Mr. Sheehan, digging for the office building he wants to build at Markham and Nassau, is still digging and therefore technically not operating without a building permit. His permit was revoked, along with everyone else's in the Borough, as of November 20 — a day after the new ordinance was passed.

When he starts the footings, he will be starting construction and it is at that point, according to Borough engineer Thomas Cawley, that the summons will be issued.

A Present for Ken

A group of more then 200 Princeton families contributed to an all-expenses-paid Thanksgiving holiday trip to Puerto Rico for Princeton High School Principal Kenneth Michael and Mrs. Michael.

The spark behind the idea came from Mrs. Raymond F. Male. All the money was raised from private contributors, and no school monies were involved, Mrs. Male emphasized.

"This was a 'thank you' and not an attempt to twist his arm so he might stay on as principal," Mrs. Male said. "We figured he'll be here until the end of the school year and we want to make that time as happy for him as we can."

RUNS FOR SCHOOL BOARD

First Petition. Mrs. Inez Aldrich Hinds will run for the Princeton Regional School Board. She is the first candidate to take out a petition.

Mrs. Hinds, who lives at 227 John Street, is a teacher in the Trenton public schools. Her husband, Albert Hinds, is a member of the Borough Zoning Board.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

For Wounding Husband. Mrs. Mary L. White, 55, 135 John Street, was held in $1,000 bail Monday to await action by a Mercer County Grand Jury after she waived a preliminary hearing before Borough Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. She had been charged with atrocious assault and battery by Ptl. Arthur Jackson.

Mrs. White allegedly shot her husband, David, in the leg last week after a family argument in their home. Both were treated at Princeton Hospital. Mrs. White for a fractured collarbone, which she told police was inflicted by her husband.

Jesse J. McMillan, 27, of Trenton, was fined $35 for assault and $35 for using loud and offensive language, both charges stemming from an incident in Princeton Hospital this summer. The complainant was Township Ptl. Mario Musso who had accompanied McMillan to the hospital, following a fatal accident on Route 206 in which McMillan had been involved. He denied both charges.

In traffic court, Steven S. Cohen, 24, 99 Meadowbrook Drive, was fined $15 for careless driving.

WHEELER GIVEN AWARD

By President Johnson. Prof. John A. Wheeler, internationally-known physicist at Princeton University, was in Washington Monday to receive the Enrico Award from President Johnson at the White House.

The honor, announced earlier this year, was conferred upon him in recognition of his contributions to nuclear science and his work in developing the first nuclear reactor in Chicago. The award consists of a Four generations of the Wheeler family were present for the occasion. Prof. Wheeler was accompanied by his father, his son and his five month-old grandson.

A faculty member here since 1938, Prof. Wheeler has been a full professor since 1947. He has held the Joseph Henry Chair in physics for the past two years.

"RACE & SOCIAL CHANGE" Is Conference Topic, Tensions between black and white students at Princeton University and between town and gown youth have triggered the conference, "Race and Rapid Social Change at Princeton," which opens at 8 p.m. Friday in 101 McCormick Hall.

Three groups are sponsors: Association of Black Collegians, Whig-Clio, and the Informed Citizens Advocating Action. Dean Neil Rudenstein is conference chairman. Scarcity and high cost of housing is also cited as a factor in town-gown relations.

Speakers on Friday will be Township Committeeman-elect James Floyd and Al Price of ABC. Saturday will be devoted to seminars, with members of the Princeton faculty, administration and student body serving as group leaders and resource persons.

According to the conference announcement, "The focus . . . will be on defining where the trouble areas lie, discerning what in the institutional structures of the university, the town and the interplay between the two creates an atmosphere conductive to conflict, and then to decide on an intelligent plan of action for changing this atmosphere to one where a more

"I am unalterably opposed to this ordinance," Dr. Cherry stated. He reminded Committee that Township road repairs are made at public expense. He also recalled Committee for trying to pass a lame-duck ordinance before going out of office.

Mrs. Carlin said the ordinance discriminated against older homes and small homes in the Township's built-up "sidewalk area.

"Utterly unfair," was Henry J. Frank's characterization.

Mr Wilson said he opposed the ordinance because it was inconsistent with the sidewalk construction policy which only requires the owner to pay half.

Mr. Wallace declared in favor, except for those trees, and he suggested tabling for re-working.

Taxes. It was Carmen ("Irish") Fasanella who said air port limousines broke the back of taxi owners. Thomas Moore, president of the Princeton Taxi Owners' Association, asked Committee to deny Air Brook Service, Inc. permission to take Princeton passengers to Newark and Teterboro.

"These outsiders contribute nothing to Princeton," he charged, "Princeton taxi drivers have a $200,000 capital investment here, patronize Princeton insurance agencies, repairmen and car dealers."

Air Brook already has approval to operate out of Lawrenceville and Plainsboro, so Committee decided there was no point in denying them Township approval. Otherwise, Mayor Schafer said he would have voted "no." Air Brook still needs P.U.C. permission Committee unanimously committed itself to closing off Valley Road between 205 and Witherspoon if the state installs a traffic light at Terhune and 206. Committee still has the option of changing its mind however.

Mr. Wilson agreed to explore with the Borough the suggestion of Mrs. Harold Kuhn that a joint Borough-Township analysis of low and mid income housing might be preferable to the standard neighborhood analysis required of the Township alone by Federal housing officials.

For Valentine's Day?

Two Princeton University juniors have started plans for bringing several hundred women students on campus for a week of co-education in February. All they need to carry out their project is money.

Peter Cohen of Schenectady, N.Y., and Mier Riba low of New York City have received a provisional okay from the University to proceed with their plan, scheduled for February 9-14, but must find a way to raise the necessary funds.

Neil L. Rudenstine, Dean of Students, said the University would be unable to pay part of the cost. However, the two juniors are hopeful the undergraduate assembly will cooperate with them. Housing arrangements must also be made.

viable pluralism is encouraged."

FOUR LOTS PLANNED

But Tabled. A four-lot subdivision planned for the 404 Nassau Street property of Mrs. Elizabeth Conger was tabled Tuesday night by the Borough Planning Board for additional information. Chairman Arthur Morgan voted against tabling.

A proposed amendment to the new zoning ordinance was tossed back to Council which had tossed it to the Planning Board in the first place. The amendment would allow five-story buildings in the central business zone instead of four, as in the new ordinance.

Alan Carrick said, "It's a had move we'll be over saturated with cars," and voted "no." So did Charles Erdman and Norman Williams. Mr. Morgan, Mayor Henry S. Patterson and Thomas Cawley voted "yes" and Bryan Moore abstained, so the whole thing could go back to Council on a tie vote.

Flexing its new site plan provisions for the first time, the Board approved conditionally an addition to the 22 Chambers Street Pickering Building. Dr. Donald Pickering plans a three-story office addition behind his present building, raised on columns over a two-story parking garage. One garage level would be below ground.

Princeton Plaza, Inc. was given permission to convert four apartments on the second story of its 360 Nassau Street building to 1,600 square feet of office space. Parking will be in the rear of the lot.

Mason, Griffin and Moore, attorneys, were given approval to build an elevator shaft in their 201 Nassau Street building. The new zoning ordinance's provision for these minor adjustments didn't quite fit, so the Zoning Board sent the elevator shaft to the Planning Board for site plan review.

NEW ZONING PLANNED

In Lawrence Ordinance. Several major changes influencing all sections of the municipality are proposed in Lawrence Township's new zoning code, the first in nearly 14 years.

The greatest changes have occurred in residential zones, with two RM zones, designed for multiple housing units, located in the southern end of the township on both sides of Route 206, and on Franklin Corner Road near Route One.

Multiple family structures with five-acre lot minimums and town houses with a maximum density of 20 units per acre are both permitted in RM zones. Rural A and B zones have been eliminated in favor of R A zones for single family housing on a minimum of three acres, and R B for single residences with 1.5 acre minimums, and R 30 for single family houses with 30,000 square foot lots.

Industrial zones have also been realigned somewhat. A research, office and development use has replaced the limited industrial zone on both sides of the Princeton Pike, and been enlarged to include some land formerly classified as Rural A between the Pike and Quakerbridge Road.

Present limited park sites south of the proposed I-295 route have been designated for light industrial uses, as has property on Denow Road, presently zoned Rural B. Another industrial section, located along the railroad track leading to Lawrenceville would become an R-9 zone — single family homes on 9,000 square foot lots.

Squibb Accommodated. Special exemption uses such as hospitals, nursing homes, lodges and animal hospitals are permitted in R-A and R-B zones, as are office and research facilities to accommodate the Squibb complex planned for the Route 206 and Province Line Road site. Prerequisites of at least 200 acres and a maximum of eight per cent land coverage are retained.

Following in the foot steps of Princeton Township, the ordinance also requires site plan review for any building projects other than single or two family detached structures. Another provision, aimed at large lookalike housing developments, prohibits a structure in a residential district from being "excessively similar" to any neighboring home.

Joseph P. DallePazze Jr., chairman of the planning board, said it was currently scheduling several public meetings to explain the new ordinance to residents. The new code, designed to implement the township's master plan, will go before the township committee for final action next year.

WOMAN IS INJURED

In Route 206 Crash. Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, 43, 95 Russell Road, was injured last week when her car collided with another at the intersection of Route 206 and Cherry Valley Road.

She received three stitches for a laceration of her lower lip at Princeton Hospital and was treated for a broken right wrist. She was released.

Ptl. Jerry Offredo ticketed Mrs. Williams for reckless driving. He noted in his report that her car was three feet over the center line.

The other driver was Mrs. Carmella Arcaro, 41, Cherry Valley Road, who was waiting to make a left turn. The mishap took place at 5:40 p.m. last Wednesday.

At 2:15 Wednesday morning, Thurland T. Wilkinson Jr., 28, 571 Lake Drive, sustained a cut on his face after he apparently fell asleep while driving on Hartley Avenue near McLean Circle, according to police.

The entire front end of his small car was damaged when it jumped the curb. A light rain was falling at the time. Ptl. Anthony Gaylord made no charges.

A Piscataway resident, Mrs. Henrietta Merritt, 54, received four fractured ribs, a fractured nose and contusions and abrasion last week, following a two car collision on North Harrison Street opposite Valley Road. She was treated at Princeton Hospital.

The other driver was Virginia B. Davidson, 51, of Woodside, Calif., whom Ptl. Frank Boccanfuso charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Mrs. Davidson told police she had stopped behind another car when a third car about to turn into the Shopping Center waved them across the intersection. The first car got across safely but the Davidson car was hit by the Merritt car coming south on North Harrison Street. The latter came to rest against a Public Service pole.

In the Borough, Matthew T. Geis, 80, of 90 North Stanworth Drive was injured when his car jumped a South Stanworth Drive curb Thursday at 9 p.m. and hit a tree.

He was taken to Princeton Hospital where he was treated for contusions and abrasions of the face an darms and admitted.

Mr. Geis told Ptl. James Bloor he had pulled to the the double - breasted front. Hand finished.

Mrs. Goldie Margolies, who owns the shop, has reason to be proud of the half size collection. She carries designer Paula Dean's things in the 12½ to 20½ size group — such as a coat and dress ensemble of magenta tweed shot with a deep blue thread, the matching dress is solid magenta, short sleeved, jewel neck and nice detailing. It's a very slimming outfit, and lovely.

In holiday green, a hand-tailored silk worsted coat and dress, trimmed in sparkle at the neck and pockets. ($90.) Or a cape and dress of silk worsteds in antique white. The neckline and slits of the cape have jewel trim. (All in the half sizes.)

Flemington Sample is mainly misses' sizes, however, and you'll be delighted with the bargains in knits. While you're there, look over the dashing pants suits. A one-of-a-kind by an Israeli designer is the striking pants suit with an adjunct skirt. Since the jacket is coat length, it's a versatile buy. Grey & white, or flame with black & white overplaid.

OTHER PAPERS will run your classifieds for half price, or for nothing if they do not sell. In TOWN TOPICS, you'll find more ads and better results.

For The Unfinished Craftsman

Scandinavian furniture kits may be found at the Cane Farm, Route 519 above Lambertville. For a fair start, try the placemat-tray with a rounded carrying piece at each end (some have a hole for your breakfast egg!)

Sculptured Imrie/Risley cast figures for the Civil War buff who, like Eisenhower and Montgomery, knows every maneuvre of the Battle of Gettysburg. Ready for highly skilled painting. At the Hobby Center on Nassau. (Also authentically detailed cast figures of the Napoleonic and Revolutionary Wars, Assyrian archers and Iroquois Indians.)

Santa Claus Christmas stocking kit at the Knitting Shop on Tulane. The sock will be 20-inches long when you're finished. In green wool, with white angora for Santa's beard and cap (and two brass bells for the toe.)

Wall panels — make your own collage of mosaic tiles, beads and colored glass from the kits at The Game Room on Nassau.

Deck the Halls

When you walk into the Lennox Shop near Lambertville, the first thing you notice is the wonderful scent of balsam. It's from the incense buring in the fireplace. So now you know where to get it. ($1 a box)

Lennox has a number of ideas for Christmas decor. There's a large glass candy jar filled with the symbols of the season, gingerbread men, red apples, Rudolph the reindeer, holly and even some strawberries. Next year, if you wish ,the contents could go on the tree and you could fill up the jar in a new way. ($35.)

For Contrast, a wee Christmas stocking of red felt, trimmed in white ball fringe and an appliqued green tree—and with a little stuffed grey mouse ($1.59); and the longest stocking around, nearly four feet long. In red-and-white stripes and ball fringe. ($5.95)

For the door, a realistic holly wreath (no fooling) at $5.95, and an artificial tree for the wall, coming out of a wicker basket. The tree is trimmed with fruits and pine cones.

Leaded glass pendants for sunny windows — particularly nice gift for shut-ins, may be found at the University Store. Most attractive are the soldiers in red glass silhouetted again a rich blue background ($10) and the gold star. You may prefer the red-and-gold candle for Yuletide cheer, or perhaps the red, yellow and green owl ($6) to give to a wise one.

For your fireplace mantle, the U-Store has a string of seven elves on green rope ($3.95), the kind of gay creatures that reflect the seasonal spirit.

Danish tapers and holders, in bright colors, are on view at the Little Orient Shop, 139 Main Street in Flemington. This fascinating store has gone international, although it still carries the Japanese decor. For Christmas trim, among the candles, we saw the new "tear drop" that looks vaguely like a pear. They're small and very effective when you place them in the shop's square holders of clear glass. The colors are blue, orange, yellow or green.

For Santa Himself

Coordinate belts (what?) are a big thing for the Santa in your household. The belts are supposed to give him a clue as to what color shirt to wear and so get him to the breakfast table a little faster.

We saw the belts with the permanent press slacks at Robert Hall . . . blue-grey slacks with a belt of navy, burgundy and yellow, for instance. ($7.95 inclusive) Also in keeping with the fancy slack year, Robert Hall has a black-and-white houndstooth check made up into slacks at $12.95.

In the leather look, Robert Hall has a dusty green suede jacket in three-quarter length with a pile lining. Also in tan. ($24.95.) And matching ties and silk squares for only $2.50 a set. This comes in many patterns from a wild stripe of gold and brown to an Ivy League type of shields against a navy background. You'll find paisleys here too.

Marvin and Ben Brown at Princeton Clothing on Witherspoon Street have a great selection in men's sweaters. There's a bulky knit in natural wool ($15.), a blue tweed; turtlenecks in the thin wool that is the right weight for under a sports jacket. These latter have ribbed collars and come in many, many colors. ($13.)

Alligator belts are a great gift item, and Princeton Clothing has the reversible type — brown on one side and black on the other. ($5) And also the new 1¼-inch wide belt for dress wear, in a large selection.

Buy Him a "Heck". Since, in a way, you have a vested interest in your guy, we suggest a good-looking heck. This is a heck suede vest that reverses to a check in green or gold tones. Also come in tan ($9.) Another good buy at Princeton Clothing is their suede vest, in a nice tan shade. ($17.)

Plaid slacks are as big an item this winter as they were last summer, and P.C. has them in a seasonal orlon-and-wool blend in conservative heather tones of olive and tan. They're exteremely good looking and would be great with corduroy jackets. (Slacks about $20; corduroy jackets $30.)

Games We Play

"Mem" — a new game, invented by a Princeton man resident. It's a combination of chess, bridge and Japanese "Go." The pieces are polished, colored stones. Can be played alone or by two's or four's. An adult challenge, requiring quite a bit of concentration. ($6 — at the Game Room.)

"Broadside" by American Heritage, a fascinating battle between full-rigged red and blue frigates and ships 'o the line. The classic naval maneuver of "crossing the T" kills off the unwary. For ages 7 to 11, and painless for parents. (About $5 in most of the toy and game stores.)

Backgammon, unobtainable here in other years. In a slim, tan attache case, nicely fitted; at Zinders. Magnetic versions at The Game Room.

Win, Place & Show, for a day at the track. You start out, friends, with a cool $50,000. ($7.95 at the University Store.)

Goren's "Cut-throat Bridge for Three." (The eternal triangle again.) (U. Store.)

Scrabble in French, or in Spanish, German or Russian ($4.98); also magnetic version for travelers. Monopoly in seven languages. The Game Room.

year, from the simple white shirt with olive, blue or grey stripe to the wild ones — blue with yellow or even salmon with a double stripe of rose and green. ($7-7.50); at Princeton Clothing.

Browsing through the sweaters at the Princeton University Store, we noticed a heavy knit turtleneck that looked very warm and lush. The pattern is on the Aaram diamond design. ($20). And there are some great shetlands, plain or cable stitch. Choose from Lovat green, oatmeal, heather and red, blue ($16 & $20).

Skiers will go for the white cable stitch with a maroon stripe around the turtleneck. ($22.50)

A rust shade of corduroy that we haven't seen anywhere else is included in the U-Store's collection of corduroy pants. And they carry plaids in heather colors of glen plaid. We also noticed a very good-looking gold & blue check. ($14-$21.)

Among the sportscoats and blazers at the U-Store (let's slick him up for the holidays) is a camel-color jacket in basket weave, with a regimental motif lining. Natural shoulders, superbly tailored. Single-breasted with crested brass buttons, and available in sizes 38-44 regular. ($75.) And then there's a cranberry red blazer with gold buttons, ($55.)

Country gentleman accessories at the U-Store include ascots in smashing paisley prints at $4.50; unfitted cowhide cases for toiletries, a convenient gadget for the traveler, and warm and wonderful leather gloves with orlon pile linings ($8.)

And clothes brushes with the handle curved to fit the palm of the hand. Made of water buffalo skin, with pure nylon bristles. A durable item at $4.50.

Harry Balliol at 20 Nassau has those Dobbs hats, the jaunty brown plaid ones with a feather on the side. ($8.95)

And also the Thane Company's sweaters that the men like. We sort of fell for the burgundy cable knit with a double band of navy at the V-neck and wrists. It also comes in conservative white. ($22.50)

Ballot's is the place to go for the warm and washable Pendleton wool shirts. We saw some gratifying blue, red and green plaid patterns.

And a wild one for the hit-blooded — cream-colored background, shot with red paisley — in the button-down style.

Handcraft Gifts

Over at Cane Farm on Route 519 north of Lambertville, you'll come across the work of some of the best of our area's craftsmen. The Canes themselves are known for their line of furniture reproductions that are somewhat out of the ordinary, such as dry sinks and trestle tables.

And if you see something in pine and would prefer it in cherry and a little bit larger (or smaller) they'll make it for you.

But new this year is the display of the work of local craftsmen. Among the pottery is a set of blue and grey spice jars, smooth glazed and graceful. ($2.35 ea.) Over there are exquisitely embroidered placemats and hand towels. Placemats $6 ea.; towels $5.75 ea.)

REX TYRANNOSAURUS: On Friday, Jack Morava went into a Nassau Street store and bought himself a dinosaur kit for Christmas. He assembled it right away on Palmer Square, with the assistance of Ellen Schatschneider (center) and Joan Kreise. (A "dry run," he called it.) Jack plans to paint Rex with florescent colors and put him in his bath tub.

Maybe Kodak's improved Instamatic movie projector with a 400-ft. reel, automatic threading (no more rough words) and gears for forward, reverse and still. (Model M67 at Mall Camera.)

How about a fur hat . . . he'll look like a professor. Marvelous soft and inky black ones, Russian style, $5 at Princeton Clothing, Witherspoon Street.

Or an antiqued pine wine rack that holds four (or six) bottles of his favorite. (*$14.95 & $19.95 at Lennox, Lambertville.)

Maybe the practically foolproof (no offense, mam) new Nikkormat FTN camera for accurately exposed pictures. It has a great lens series, too. (University Store, Mall Camera.)

And the glass candleholders are a beautiful whimsey. Imagine a lighted candle inside a well of clear marbles interspersed with a red and green marble design of Christmas trees. ($9.50)

And duck decoys of polished wood for your fireplace or for the base of a lamp. We noticed a decoy combined with a hurricane lamp. ($14.)

Dear Santa: How Are You?

The letters will soon be going out, the poignant, appealing and trusting. For those who still write letters (and their kid brothers and sisters):

Stuff 'n Nonsense put in a supply of games for "quite young children," as Phyllis Britcher puts it. "I find there aren't very many games for this age group." Most of her supply is from Europe.

There's a pre schooler's animal lotto, with bright beautiful pictures, the kind that is part of the happiness of childhood. The game also comes in a flowers version and in a household items version. ($3.25)

Another is lotto that is part puzzle. Turn over the matching blocks and form a picture. Or your moppet may love the memory card game. He or she packs a suitcase from cards with clothing items on, but if the cards with the hedgehog or tree on them, are drawn, get rid of them! ($3.25)

Stuff 'n Nonsense carries quaint wooden banks from France. The ladybug is one of the children's favorites, Miss Britcher says. There's also a mouse, a drum, a tondstool and a turtle to put pennies in. ($2.50)

For the Indian cult — pre school through the early grades, Indian headpieces and drums made by the Cherokees. Tapping the drum, Miss Britcher said happily, "It has a nice deep tone you can stand around the house!"

There are dance bells to wear at the ankle ($1.50) and papoose and Indian warrior dolls. (All under $2).

From Holland, a coloring pad — some pages are for crayon, others for paint. Turn the pad over and its full of blank pages for even greater art. ($1). Also a soft Dutch boy doll, with the bluest eyes you ever saw. A red cap, blue jacket and pants to take on and off.

Boys will enjoy the Playskool barn, with doors that are easy to open. And there's a lively stable, beautifully crafted, with horses sized to fit in, all skillfully carved. (The stable $4; horses 30c to $2.) To go with the stable are mounted riders in hunting red jackets. (80c).

Stuff 'n Nonsense has a great line of trucks — by Tonka and Hubley. We also liked the tin tool chest, the wooden boats — especially the bathtub-size tug boat, and the great knob-puzzle for pre-school boys (trucks, cars and buses, each with a knob, that fit into a cutout wooden board.)

Little Homemakers will be delighted with a "surprise pockets" apron — each pocket at the hem filled with a tissue-wrapped gift. Who knows what she'll find! There's also a "nurse's apron" with medical stuff in the pockets; a kitchen apron with little egg beaters and all; and a sewing apron with small supplies of necessaries for the little girl who's making doll dresses.

On the same line of thought, are a matched set of kitchen pans like mother's — scaled down to little girl size. And doll dishes — ranging from the palm-of-the-hand size tea services for her doll house to nursery table size. The patterns are enchanting.

Puzzles, that great mainstay of the rainy day, are piled everywhere at Stuff 'n Nonsense. There are the easy peg shapes for the very young up to "strip" puzzles that may need a little adult help.

Wooden puzzles, cardboard puzzles, easy, hard, the variety is tremendous. And there are some great games Miss Britcher will show you.

And Steiff hand puppets — with the quaintest, most loveable lions, rabbits, bears, monkeys, and puppies. We knew a mother who found the saucy chipmunk as great aid at the high chair. He served pieces of toast to a fascinated little boy and chattered away.

How about a 1969 children's calendar with stickers and space for noting the "future past"? Or colorful canvass carry alls for anything from dolls to overnight clothes. Made with Chinese lettering and a rope draw string. ($1.75).

Doll house furniture, ranging from trestle tables to the tiniest dressed turkey you ever saw, are on the shelves at Stuff 'n Nonsense. There are even doll families of four dolls, sets of various sizes to fit a little girl's doll house. It's fascinating to see such miniatures as a wall telephone, table silver in a box with a sliding lid, a caldron and ladle. (50c to $7).

The doll collection itself ranges from creamy-skinned infants in bunting to old fashioned stuffed dolls in gingham with embroidered faces: from just like you dolls to dress to even the old favorites, "Raggety Ann" and "Ragetty Andy." There's the "Littlest Angel," a beautifully - made dream baby. And stuffed animals! We could go on for hours

Keeping Up With The Sports — All Ages

Snow Bike: Send your oldest down the hill on one of these; a short ski under the front handlebars, another short ski under the seat. Sturdy, lightweight, 26-inches high, made of wood by Adirondack, who make the famous baseball bats. ($12.50 at Varsity Sports.)

Snow Trike: The snow bike's kid brother, with one front ski and two skis under the seat. Only 15-inches high. ($12.50 at Varsity Sports.)

Computerized Stock Market Game — the shrewdest player can't outguess the computer. It's programmed so that the price pattern won't repeat for years. Players buy and sell stocks at prices shown on the quote board: You can even go broke. One of these models has been going full time for a year in New York. (For adults and smart kids — at Zinder's. $49.95)

Stunt and drag raclog sets on the HO scale ($13.99 up) and on a larger scale if you have the space. Made by Aurora. (Hobby Center, Nassau Street.)

Chip 'n Run-back, for golfers thwarted by the weather. You pitch into the gaping 19th hole. Turf mat comes with. ($14.95 at the University Store.)

B & A Carpet Bowls, lawn bowling for indoors. And Bocce sets. Both at the University Store.

Clothes For the Candy Cane Set...

Childrens clothes are as lusciously as ever this year. Dropping into Allen's Children Center at 134 Nassau, we found Christmas Day and party things for all young ones.

"Angie top" is the name given to the full, little smock-like dresses for infants, usually worn with tights. Allen's has one as big as a minute, in white with an embroidered red bow and sprig of flowers, the tights are in matching red. Or imagine a smocked white angel top with red panties.

For pre-schoolers, brother and sister sets in Christmas green, with contrasting trim at the collar of the white or-lon top. And for a very special boy, a red velvet Bobby suit with a restrained touch of embroidery below the white collar.

Girl's party dresses at Allen's include the imaginative designs you see advertised by Polly Flinders, Youngland and Love. We noticed an aristocratic little dress in blue-green Italian velveteen. It's paired box pleats in the front and back are stitched to the waist. For frosting, white cut-out lace at the sleeve and neck.

There are the classic smocked prints with full skirts and sashes. We loved a flower-sprig design on yellow, smocked to the waist, with long sleeves and a tiny green ribbon at the throat.

Heidi herself would love the A-line red dress by Love, styled with embroidered bands and a soupcon of lace at the collar and cuffs.

Another comfortable A - line came in a jersey weave, with a white lace front below the Mao collar. And particularly enchanting is the grey and white full skirted dress by Polly Flinders; the skirt a smoky grey, with the yellow of the daisies embroidered on the white top repeated in the full yellow sash.

Your figure skater will like the mix - and - match skating skirts and sweaters at Allen's. The skirts are of velvet or

The Pink Window

A little girl about 5 stood with her grand mother the other day, gazing at the window of Stone's Linen Shop on Nassau Street.

Filled with pink quilts and pink towels and pink linens and pink slippers, all beautifully blended into a Christmas theme, the window enchanted the child.

"I'd like to live there," she said to her grandmother.

It's New To Us

corduroy in many colors. ($5. up)

One-piece skating outfits, all of which come with little "cuddle caps," are so attractive that you find it hard to choose. There's a red wool, cut and buttoned coachman-style. And a navy wool with rick-rack trim at the hem and a great red lining. And a black velvet with an attached hood and white fur trim for the princess look. ($10 up)

And wait 'til you see the toboggan caps four feet long, bright, sun colors in flat knits and heavy knit weaves, with mittens to match.

Schoolboys like the new leather-look vests, and Allen's has them in quite an assortment. Also vests in corduroy and even velvet, why not. The colors are black, reds and golds.

One of the most important sweaters of the season is the bulky knit "Fisherman," that comes in white, off-white and green. You'll find it at Allen's along with the famous Bernhard Altman sweaters of pure shetland. The shetlands are washable, believe it or not. They come in crew neck and raglan sleeve, in most any color a boy would like.

Also for the boy on your list (who never includes clothes when he thinks of Christmas but is as proud of new things as a popinjay) we saw tiger-print pajamas, lots of turtle-neck shirts (stripes, solids, in the spectrum of color) and even pajama bags.

And authentic clan plaids in boys' flannel robes. There's a tiger print robe, too, if you think he's brave enough, as well as a good looking red and blue striped corduroy. $6 up)

Sports And All That

Stopping in at Varsity Sport Shop, 95 Nassau, we were reassured to see the Spalding aluminum frame tennis rackets. These are scarce, because the demand is so great. The metal frame racket improves your game from terrible to better, or from good to nearly great. ($30, and the shop will string them for you.)

If your husband wants to keep in trim, Varsity has the Exercycle, with a mileage meter between the handlebars to make him feel triumphant. The handles are high, so he won't have to bend over too far. (in red, $67.95).

Toboggans have made a come-back, and you'll see a size for singles all the way up to whole families — or, to put it differently, the toboggans are from 4 feet to 8 feet in length. In gleaming natural wood, finished in red and blue — with cushions if you want. ($39.95 up)

Jet bobsleds, made by Adirondack, are available through Varsity Sports. Model Jet II is a 2-man sled for kids, but adults can use it. Two short, steel-shod runners on each side, complete with cushion, steering wheel and push rails. And away we go!

You'll find most of the well-known brand names in fishing and ski equipment. We noticed rods and reels by Garcia, Eagle Claw, Roddy. And Yamaha skis — even the short Northlands.

For a boy who's building himself up (or a sorta puny guy) Varsity carries 26-lb. bar sets. Stacked against one wall are a hundred varieties of billiard accessories, chalk, cases, cue sticks.

The soccer player in your family will appreciate a new ball, and Varsity has them in various prices, including the handmade black & white Truplay ($11.50) and the Adidas from France ($13.50) You'll find Spalding and Wilson football there, too.

The University Store carries wooden rackets for paddle tennis ($7.95) and Wilson's has kedball nets, as well as everything you need for table tennis.

The tennis equipment selection is very complete, from frames to presses.

Down in Trenton, at Capitol Sporting Goods (923 Olden Avenue) you'll find a tremendous selection of skis — Head, Yamaha, Volkl, Fischer, Rossignol, Holzner, on and on. Ski poles, bindings, the whole works.

Wear In A Crowd (So Your Date Can Find You)

Copper-and-gold metallic brocade — a party dress with a wide band of mink at the hem. Long sleeves, mandarin collar and cinched at the waist by a sash. Misses sizes. ($159 at Flemington Sample Shop.)

Flirtacious black silk petals — form the skirt of a long-sleeved, slit-neckline black dress and are repeated in depth on the lower sleeve of the matching coat. ($195 at Flemington Sample.)

Lavender pants suit with pink stripes — open lapel collar on the double-breasted jacket, gold buttons and a bright pink lining. (Sizes 5-16, $40 at Stacy's.) All charm.

Orange and green borders on a stark white crepe dress, with an orange scarf to wear at your neck. (Misses; $60 at Stacy's.)

have found it," Lee Mogland said the other day at The Fabric Center on Witherspoon Street.

He brought out the much sought after bolts of cynal that women want for Christmas aprons, in quaint or modern prints. (45 inches wide $1.69 ? $1.98/yd)

Fabric Center also has the animal flannels — zebra stripes, tiger spots, that sell like crazy for kids pajamas. Simplicity has a whole batch of patterns for them (Wait 'til you see the "sick Tiger" print, blue and green.)

The Fabric Shop on Chambers Street has a great pattern for the poncho your daughter or niece is yearning for. It can be made in one hour (!), from 1½ yards of plaid woolens plus 1½ yards of braid trim.

On Doing Your Thing

If it's music that charms you, include in your Yuletide list:

A musical jester from The Game Room. There's a music box inside the head of a medieval jester, attached to a stick. Twirl it and the music plays. ($15.)

A banjo from Farrington's Music Shop. Give up the guitar for a while. Banjos in different sizes — $22.50 to $89.50.

A record player by Panasonic, battery operated. Comes in a compact red case with handle, perfect for the beach next summer. ($19.95 at the Music Shop, Palmer Square.)

A junior zither for your bewildering off-spring. ($8, Stuff 'o Nonsense.)

Christmas records: "The Messiah" by Handel, by the Philharmonic Chorus, & Orchestra directed by Otto Klemperer. ($13.05) "Christmas in France;" $3.85. "Christmas Music of the Baroque," $4.65. Or traditional carols sung by Bing Crosby, Ray Conniff, Andy Williams and others. (Princeton University Store.)

Another great thing is the "quick dirndl," and the store will cut for you (they measure you first!). You usually need about 5/8 yards. Nice for velveteens, velvets, tweeds this year. They also have an excellent wrap around skirt pattern, if you're planning a skirt for someone you can't measure.

And you can also make a robe from the Fabric Shop's regular pattern. It zips down the front so the girls have buttons to pull off. Or a pouch purse from their pattern. Two pieces to sew together . . .

Over at Clayton's are the terribly gay Christmas prints for tablecloths, aprons and placemats. Made by Indian Head, with red or green predominating in the background. ($1.79/yd.) Also red or green plaid cottons that are very attractive ($1.59/yd.)

Clayton's also has lots of trims — gold or silver braid, sparkles, fancy felts for appliques — including a candle that it already cut out.

Glamour and Glitter

Some of the prettiest evening purses you'll see are at Clayton's. Small and delicate, in gold or silver k'd. Or if you'd rather, in silver or gold metalic brocades.

To match, short, one-button gloves in gold or silver ($5.) and gold kid bows for your hair.

The harem look, by Mr. Mort, will be found at Elle on Chambers Street—in soft chiffons with metalic trim. A very interesting version has the full, belled skirt in white, a lined top with cowl neck and long, sheer sleeves. Then over the top goes a sleeveless pink velvet vest, trimmed in silver and pearls.

And a special for the holidays is Elle's tunic-with pants outfit of double-knit jersey. The pants are flouringhingly full, and the tunic (long enough to be worn alone as a shift) features cowl neck, long, slim sleeves and a wide belt. (Misses sizes in green, paprika, grey, silver and black; $15.)

"Rufus"

Rufus is a red-and white stuffed dog who carries a red and white hobo bag and has a red felt heart in the right spot. His long ears droop beside his sad little face.

As the word goes at the Lemon Shop in Lambertville, "Everyone Loves Rufus".

CONCERT TO BE HELD

By Boychoir in McCarter. The Columbus Boychoir will offer its annual Christmas Concert on Monday, December 23 at McCarter.

There will be two performances of the program, featuring modern and traditional carols and highlighted by Gian Carlo Menotti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors." The first concert is a matinee at 2:30 and the second in the evening at 8:30.

This past summer the Choir toured eight countries in South America and performed for the president of Argentina in the Teatro Colon, the largest opera house in the world.

There is a special school group rate available for the matinee. Tickets for both performances are on sale at the McCarter box office.

CONCERT SCHEDULED

By Seminary Choir. Princeton Theological Seminary's mixed choir will perform a public Christmas concert at 7:45 p.m., Wednesday, December 11, in the Seminary's Miller Chapel.

The traditional program will be directed by Clyde B. Tipton, Visiting Lecturer in Music, and will feature Heinrich Schultz' "The Christmas Story."

Soloists for "The Christmas Story" include: Evelyn G. Cooper, soprano; Gary Jon Cooper, tenor; Robert C. Copcock, tenor; and Dr. S T Kimbrough, bass.

TWO OPERAS PLANNED

By University Club. For the first time in its history, the Princeton University Opera Club will present a double bill of two chamber operas on the same program. Purcell's "Dido and Aeneas," and Peter Westergaard's "Mr. and Mrs. Discobbolos."

Mr. Westergaard, a professor in the University's music department, will direct his own work. Written two years ago, it is a two-soloist opera based on a poem by Edward Lear. Dido, a 17th century work, featuring a chorus of 22, will be conducted by Roger Nierenberg, a senior in the music department. He will also conduct the Westgaard opera.

Among the soloists are Sylvia Jones, Paula Sweet, Jeffrey Gall, Alexandra Hinckley and John Thomas. David Abramovitz, a junior in music, is producer of both works and director of the Purcell opera; he will also provide the harpsichord continuo for Rido.

Scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, December 13 and 14, in Room 101 of the Woolworth Center, the production is open to the public without charge. A non-profit organization, the Opera Club is having trouble meeting its expenses and may be forced to cancel its spring production. All wishing to aid the club should send contributions to it, c o Woolworth Center. Additional information may be obtained by calling 452 7880 or 452 4241.

CHORUS TO PERFORM

In Christmas Concert. Leroy Anderson's, "Sleigh Ride," "Latin-American Christmas Lullaby," and "O Bambino," will be among the carols sung this year by the Hopewell Valley Chorus at its annual Christmas concert set for 8:30 Friday in the Hopewell Elementary School auditorium. The public is invited free of charge.

The 40 voice group is directed by Jack Hitchcock. Rehearsals are held each monday evening at 8:15 in the school, and those interested in joining are invited to the group's first rehearsal after New Year's Day.

LISTEN TO CHRISTMAS

At Choir College Concert. The Sound of Five Christmases," a program sponsored by the English-Speaking Union, will be held at 8:30, Monday at the Westminster Choir College.

Handbells, recorders, harpsichord, organ and strings will supplement the music making of two choral groups in re creating the sounds of five Christmases. The public is invited to the program, which will be held in the Westminster Choir College Chapel. Immediately following, guests are invited to a reception to be held in nearby Williamson Hall.

BACH RECITAL PLANNED

By Princeton Music Club. Members of the Music Club of Princeton will perform the Bach Cantata #57 and the 5th Brandenburg concerto at 8:30 p.m., Wednesday, December 11, at the Unitarian Church.

Soloists for the Cantata will be Lois Laverty, soprano, and baritone S. T. Kimbrough. Nadia Koutzen, Martha Norton and Carleton Sprague Smith are scheduled as soloists in the Brandenburg concerto.

The Sound of Five Christmases

On Monday evening, December 9, at 8:30, the Princeton English-Speaking Union will help set the mood for the forthcoming holidays by sponsoring a program at the Westminster Choir College: "The Sound of Five Christmases."

Handbells, recorders, harpsichord, organ, and strings will supplement the music-making of two small choral groups in re-creating the sounds of five Christmases.

Immediately following the program, which will be held in the Westminster Choir College Chapel, guests are invited to cross the campus's central quadrangle for a reception to be held at nearby Williamson Hall.

The public will be welcome

TOP TIGER: Ellis Moore (35), a two-year regular as fullback, has been named captain of the Princeton football team for 1969. With him and outgoing captain Rich Bracken are Jake McCandless (left), associate coach who directs Tiger backfield operations, and Coach Dick Colman. (Alan Richards Photo)

SPORTS in Princeton

MOORE IS THE CHOICE To Lead Tigers in Football.

Ellis Moore, the Tigers' bread-and-butter runner for the past two seasons, will captain Princeton's 1969 football team. The 195-lb. fullback has scored 16 touchdowns in two years and the five he recorded against Harvard as a sophomore are Princeton and Ivy records for a single day's work.

Earning a starting assignment as soon as he came up to the varsity, he led the 1967 team in rushing with 484 yards despite missing two games with an injured foot. This past fall, he ran for 669 yards, second to sophomore tailback Brian McCullough.

A resident of Pelham, N. Y., Moore is the third back—and second in his position—to captain the Tigers in the last five years. He succeeds Rich Bracken.

Koloski, Sandler Honored. The Poe Cup, Princeton's highest football award, went to wingback Jim Koloski and defensive guard Dick Sandler at the team's annual dinner Monday at the Princeton Inn.

Another defensive standout, Tim McCann, won the Caldwell Trophy, emblematic of demonstrated improvement and continued effort. Playing with Sandler as a tackle on the defensive unit, McCann's 6-5, 245-lb. frame filled a starting position for the past two years.

Bruce Eckman, a three-year regular as a tackle on offense, won the McPhee Award for "fortitude and durability." Despite the fact that he was bothered by a chronic knee injury which often resulted in his playing in considerable pain, Eckman totalled more time in game action during the past three seasons than any member of the Class of 1969.

The Lourie Award for standout play as a freshman went to Philip Barbaccia, a line backer who started all of the six games his class played and called defensive signals. At 6-1, 220 pounds, he is rated by freshman coach Pep McCarthy as an "exceptionally fine varsity prospect."

Koloski fractured an ankle early in his sophomore year and saw little action. He shared the wingback role with Dave Miller in 1967 and this year came along so well that he closed his career, in Dick Colman's estimate, as "one of the two or three best wingbacks to play for Princeton." The others would be George Sella and Jim Rockenbach.

Sandler played end as a freshman, defensive tackle for his first two years on the varsity and middle guard this past fall. His speed and quick diagnosis of opposition plays most valuable member of the combined to make him the platoon.

Eckman and Joe Freschi, the right guard for three seasons, were AP All-Ivy selections, as were Sandler and McCann on defense. The official All-Ivy team — chosen by the coaches — is scheduled for release later this week.

TIGER SKATERS READY

Season Opens Thursday Night. If there is one Princeton team which can face a schedule of 20 plus games and not find a single breather among them, it is hockey. The Tigers open Thursday at 8 in Baker Rink against St. Lawrence and play

Boston College here Saturday at 2.

Thereafter, it will be Army and Colgate on the road, Clarkson at home and then the ECAC Holiday Tournament in Boston. The Tigers are defending champions in that event, with B.C., New Hampshire and Cornell rounding out the entries. (Complete winter schedule on pages 32 and 33.)

Nothing is easy in the Ivy League, either—last place Penn has been stocking it personnel with Canadians; Dartmouth, which finished in a tie with the Quakers last winter had one of the big fresh man teams in the league. It may be rough going all season for the Tigers, who are aware that because of steady improvement almost everywhere, they will have to skate awfully hard just to stay even.

Last year was a good one for newcomer Bill Quackenbush, whose first season as coach saw the Tigers produce a 13-10-1 mark for their best record in 31 years. They go into the 1968-69 campaign with a fairly solid defense, but are looking to replace the scoring punch provided by the graduated John Ritchie and Terry Peterman.

Four Veterans Gone. Losses from last winter's team are small numerically but could hardly be greater in quality. Ritchie and Terry Peterman produced respective totals of 40 and 36 points and earned second All-Ivy rating.

A third forward, Mike Wiggins, also finished his career, as did defenseman Tom Rawls. The latter was a second team ECAC selection. All four will be extremely difficult to replace.

The bulk of the returning strength is on defense. After a year in which he showed unusually rapid improvement in the nets, junior Middy Tilgh gan will give the Tigers solid experience in the position which is as essential to a hockey team as a topflight starting pitcher is in baseball.

Five defensemen will alternate in front of Tilghman. Bill Ramsay, a second All-Ivy choice last season, will pair with Randy Evens. John Kubacki is matched with last year's freshman captain, Tom MacMillan, while junior Bert Meers will serve as a swing man.

Center on the first line after producing 19 goals and 34 points last winter is Captain Jerry Kearney. He is the pivot man for wings Jim Binch, a converted defenseman, and Jack McNah, who has returned to college after a year's absence.

Pete Stuckey, a senior who was a major asset last winter as a penalty killer, will center the second line, on which senior Jon Taylor and junior Foster Gamble will also skate. The third line has sophomore Jim Tittemore skating between seniors Denis Grande and Dick Johnson.

Quackenbush hopes to develop a scoring punch to match what he believes will be a solid defensive unit. "This could be a well balanced team in the long run," he comments, "and I'm hopeful we can do as well in the Ivy League race as we did last year."

Cornell, easily the top-rated team in the east, and Harvard appear out of reach but Brown lost heavily by graduation and may not be much stronger than the rest of the pack. The Tigers finished fourth a year ago—behind these three and ahead of Yale, Dartmouth and Penn.

PEABODY IS CAPTAIN

Of 1969 PHS Eleven. Maurie Peabody, 16-year-old son of Mr and Mrs. Marsden Peabody, 289 Jefferson Road, has been elected captain of the 1969 PHS football team.

The stocky junior was used primarily as a defensive end this season where he was a sure tackler. On offense, he played quarterback but saw limited action there because starter Dave Drake, a fine player in his own right, was something of an ironman. Peabody will guide the team next year.

'STATS' POINT TO FLAW

In 1968 PHS Eleven. Final season's statistics compiled by PHS statistician Edward Lechner suggest that one of the major reasons why the Princeton High School football team fell from a 7-2 record to this year's 4-4-1 was its failure to make the big play with any consistency.

In comparison to 1967, when the Little Tigers outgained their opponents in total yardage 2,099 to 1,399 — a 700 yard bulge — and outscored them by a whopping 212 to 66, PHS was mostly in the debit column this fall.

Aside from passing yardage, where PHS and its opponents were virtually even — 751 to 740, with PHS enjoying the 11-yard edge — Princeton High was ahead in only two categories: first downs and number of plays run. Its margin in first downs was 93 to 86 while in plays run it had a commanding 783 to 503 advantage.

When one considers PHS ran the ball 280 times more than its opponents but compiled less total yardage—2161 to 1983—it is clear that the opposition gained more yardage per play than did PHS. In nine games, only three plays gained more than 50 yards for the Little Tigers: John Madden's 66-yard run in the Ewing game, a 78-yard pass-run play from Nick Arcaro to Bob Cooper in the Steinert game, and Arcaro's 58-yard run in the finale against Madison.

Arcaro Dominates. The second major findings for the year-end figures, was, not unexpectedly, their domination by tailback Nick Arcaro. Nick carried the ball 141 times for a net gain of 604 yards, 11 TDs, and 37 first downs. The 133 yards he was thrown for losses occured mostly when he was back to pass and had to eat the ball.

In passing, Nick completed 64 of 136 for 700 yards, 7 TDs and 23 first downs. He was intercepted 12 times. In addition, he caught two passes for 37 yards and one TD. His total yardage of 1341 was two-thirds of the team's 1983.

As a team, PHS rushed 312 times for a 1232 net average or four yards per carry, scoring 14 TDs and committing 20 fumbles — twice as many as last year. In passing, the team completed 70 passes of 159 attempts for a net yardage of 751 yards and 8 TDs. Yards-per-pass average was 10.5. A total of 14 were picked off.

The top receiver for the Blue and White was Bob Cooper with 22 catches for 304 yards and five TDs. Quarterback Dave Drake caught 15 for 132 yards and one TD, and Joe Fischer caught eight for 75 yards and one score.

Second to Arcaro in rushing was fullback John Madden, who lugged the ball 73 times for 327 yards and two TDs. He and Arcaro were co-captains of the team.

No one else had rushing yardage of any consequence. In contrast, last year Houston Webber rushed for 344 yards, Charlie Madden 331, Tom Taylar 226 and Tom Yoder 222 in 1967.

Arcaro was the leading scorer with 72 points, 66 of them rushing. Cooper was next with 36 — all on receptions, and Chris Gartner was third with 22. Gartner's points came on three field goals in which he was three for six including a 41-yarder, and 13 extra points. Madden had 12 points and Fischer, Drake and Singer 6 each.

The team punted 30 times, two less than last year, for an average of 31 yards per kick. It was outscored, 158 to 182.

SECOND YEAR BEGINS: Larry Ivan, coach of the PHS basketball team, will begin his second year next Friday when team opens its season against Ewing.

NEWCOMERS ADD HEIGHT

To PHS Quintet. If you tell it like it is, basketball has rarely been Princeton High School's bag.

But perhaps more than anything else, basketball is Larry Ivan's thing and when the Little Tiger cagers make the scene this season, the results could be groovy. Not real groovy but groovy, nonetheless.

During the past two seasons — Tony Borzok's last and Ivan's first — PRS has won 9 and lost 35. Last year, the varsity won 3 of 22, losing 12 in a row at one point. In addition, the jayvee team won four and the freshman team only two — nine victories among three teams, which would seem to give little call for optimism.

However, despite the poor won-lost records there are clear indications that PHS has turned the corner and is headed upwards. Near the top of a list of pluses has to be Ivan himself. A former college star at Oklahoma and professional player for the Trenton Colonials, he knows the game ad commands respect. As one member of his staff said, "When Larry speaks, you can hear a pin drop."

Boys Couldn't Adjust. If Ivan could be faulted for last year's showing, it could only be for trying to teach a whole new style too fast. "The boys couldn't adjust that quickly to what we were trying to do," he said, "especially the seniors. That's why we went mainly with juniors and sophomores."

That's another reason why PHS figures to be stronger this year: most of its starting five is back — including Johnny Madden, who finished near the top among all scorers in Mercer County last year; Billy Brooks and Jeff Haring.

At 6-3, Brooks had the height and he was accurate. He had the picturesque fluid style, but he lacked staying power. According to Ivan, his stamina this fall has improved tremendously. In scrimmages against Lawrenceville School and Hopewell Valley, Billy scored 25 and 20 points.

As a sophomore last year, Haring was a tireless performer but an erratic one who always gave promise of becoming a complete player but never quite managed to do so. "This year, Haring is more composed, he's not as frantic on the court. We've calmed him down and he's improved a lot," said Ivan.

A coach always welcomes the unexpected newcomer to school who has had experience, but when three show up in one year and all over 6 feet . . . it quickly adds up to a third reason why the Blue and White will be an improved club. They are Fritz Loatz a 6-1 senior from Larkin, Ill.; Tim Taggart, a 6-1 junior from Barrington, Ill. and Peter Smagorinsky, 6-4 junior from Fairfax County, Va.

"Loatz has looked very good," said Ivan, who listed him as a probable starter. Smagorinsky's height will help under the boards and Taggart has shown well in practices. To this, add Bill Nelson a returning member of last year's squad who should be the sixth man this year; and two more promising players who returned to the sport after an absence, and one has the manpower and the potential of a fine team

Miller Excels Off Boards. The latter two are Jim Miller and Gene Holland. Miller, a 6-2 junior, has looked good, particularly off the boards, commented Ivan, who coached Miller when he was an eighth-grader. Holland, 6-3, a junior, didn't come out in his sophomore year, he said, after he experienced some dissatisfaction as a member of the freshman team.

Also back from last year's squad are 6-4 Paul Riddell, 5-11 John Schmidt and Bob Kennedy. Kennedy has been slowed by a knee injury he sustained in football and Riddell, a soccer player, has not had the benefit of the early

It does things other small cars shouldn't do.
Cornering at high speeds is one of the last things to expect small cars to do, successfully. Unless it's a SAAB, the out-of-the-ordinary small car. Out of the ordinary because it has front-wheel drive. So it doesn't push you around like others do. It pulls you around corners, curves and other drivers' mistakes. Is that all SAAB has? Not on your life. Most ordinary cars don't give you, even as options, all the standard SAAB safety features. As an optional extra, our new V-4 engine has a LIFETIME GUARANTEE.

practices which started November 1.

Other members on the 22-member squad, which still faces further cuts by Ivan, are John Grady, Tim Rollings, Jeff Grover, Joe Bolster, Ray Kirk, Bob Sweeney, a 6-0 sophomore student from St. Paul's whom jayvee coach Art Ware predicts will come day "make it big," Rich Favreau and Mark Cuomo.

Defections include Bob Cooper, who didn't come out this fall; Reggie Swain who is too old; and 6 5 Peter Wyckoff who attended private school and used up his eligibility.

In Group 3? A fourth reason why PHS can be expected to do well in the sport in the future is its probable reclassification — perhaps as early as next year — from Group 4 to Group 3.

Classification is based on the male enrollment and as PHS phases out its former sending districts such as Hopewell and West Windsor its enrollment has dropped. It is only about 25 over the cut-off now which means in place of such teams as Trenton and Ewing it will play Hopewell Valley and Lawrence as league games.

Friday, the team scrimmaged Pennsbury and Hightstown in a tri-scrimmage, after earlier scrimmages against Lawrenceville and Hopewell Valley. On Monday, the team will face Northern Burlington in its first home scrimmage. Ivan reported he intends to open the Burlington scrimmage to anyone who wants to get a preview of the team.

Assisting Ivan again will be Archie Freeman, former PHS student and Springfield College graduate who will coach the freshmen, and newcomer Art Ware, who will coach the jayvee team. A graduate of Columbia and a history teacher at PHS, Ware last year coached the Hun School junior varsity.

How is the team shaping up? "We did about as well as expected," said Ivan, commenting on the first scrimmages. "I honestly think we'll do better this year. We're getting the boys, we're showing much improvement. When you hold Pennington to 49 points and Lawrenceville to 61, it shows we're getting there."

233 RECEIVE LETTERS
In Fall Sports at PHS. Two hundred thirty-three letters have been awarded to members of the varsity, jayvee and freshman teams in soccer, football and cross country at Princeton High School. Athletes in the three fall sports participated in a total of 100 contests.

Much the same story will repeated for the winter and spring sports said athletic director Joseph Jingoli: "People have no idea of the tremendous amount of athletic events we schedule every year and the number of boys who participate in them."

Captains named for the fall sports for 1969 are Maurie Peabody, football; Walter Taylor and Mike McConnell, soccer; Ken Buckland and Donald Fox, cross country.

Twenty six seniors received letters in football. Eric Perkins, Chris Smith, Charles Sweigart, Gary Divlaio, Chris Schmidt, Barry Henninger, William Hartley, Gary Coleman, Bob Cramer, Pete McCrohan, Bob McCloskey, Jeff White, Joe Fischer, Joe Seldner and Bob Cooper.

Also, Jim Irish, Dick Van Zandt, Dave Drake, Bob Kennedy, John Madden, Scott Raaum, Reggi Swain, Nick Arcaro, Jim Corio, Chris Gartner, John Pesce and Lee Hediger.

Eleven underclassmen who received letters and comprise next year's nucleus are sophomores Lawrence Parker and Luciano Rossi and the following juniors: Dennis O'Brian, Chris Mislow, Dave Benson, Mike Tomlinson, Craig Singer, Laurie Bloom, Maurie Peabody, Gary Diviaio and Jim Gilroy.

Russell Link received his "P" as team manager. In addition, 18 members of the jayvee team received letters, 26 on the sophomore squad and 47 on the freshmen team — a total of 130.

In soccer, 24 letters were awarded — 20 freshman, 37 jayvee and 17 varsity. Varsity recipients were Walter Fry, Scott Purvis, Woody Navin, Keith VanArsdalen, Jed Farce, Ronald Jonkers, Thomas Graham, Paul Mazzarella, Paul Ridell, Henry Wilkinson, Walter Taylor, Julian Solotorvsky, Greg Johnson, Ciro Baldino, Mike McConnell, Larry Sprullis, Sam Seunsetatn and Conway McGowan, manager.

BASKETBALL CLINIC SET
For Saturday Morning. As an added attraction to the Globetrotters Basketball game in the Trenton Civic Center on Wednesday, December 11, Coleman Oldsmobile and the City of Trenton will sponsor a basketball clinic this Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the Civic Center. Globetrotter player Bobby Milton will conduct the program.

Boys up to the age of 16 are eligible. To register each boy must appear with an adult at Coleman Oldsmobile, Olden Avenue and Prospect, between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. on Thursday or Friday, and check with John Burbidge, general sales manager. Door prizes, including basketballs autographed by Milton, will be awarded.

AWARDS GIVEN

At Chapin Soccer Banquet. Jack Bayer, winner of the most valuable player award, led a group of award recipients this week at the Chapin School soccer banquet.

The team's co-captains, John Loughlin and Chris de Blois, will have their names engraved on the Captain's trophy. Varsity letters were distributed to each player on the squad.

Bonaventure Mbida, starting forward on the Princeton University varsity soccer team, was the guest speaker at the event. Mbida comes from the Republic of Cameroon.

ST. PAUL'S UNBEATEN

In CYO League Play. The well-oiled St. Paul's basketball team has methodically rolled to its fourth and fifth consecutive victories in the Mercer County Basketball League, nipping St. Hedwigs, 37-33, and dumping St. Raphael's, 42-35.

Spotting St. Hedwig's a 21-17 halftime lead when it experienced a poor first half in shooting, the Nassau Street team regrouped its forces and staged a vigorous rally in the second half. Doug Petrozzini tied the game and the omnipresent Kevin Tylus sunk the go-ahead basket to give the winners a lead they never relinquished.

Steve Perone's fine outside shooting gave him 12 points for the game, while Tylus, as usual, was high scorer, accounting for 14.

St. Raphel's also moved out to an early advantage against the winners, but its 3-0 lead was short lived. Baskets by Guy Bertone and Tylus righted matters and put St. Paul's ahead to stay.

Leading by only 19-15 after the intermission, St. Paul's pulled away as Tylus took off on one of his patented scoring binges and poured in 10 points to put the game out of reach. He tallied 20 for the entire contest, right around his season's average.

Perone added nine points, Bertone had eight, and returning to the line-up after suffering a broken wrist, Dan Colucio collected five points. Mark Levesseur and Tylus controlled the backboards for the winners.

A threat to St. Paul's unbeaten streak is looming on the horizon in the form of Incarnation School, which is 4-1 at the moment. The Trenton five has height and a swift backcourt duo, and should provide St. Paul's with its sternest test to date.

It's Open Season on Deer and Bear

Several restrictions for hunters during the New Jersey big game hunting season, which opens Monday and runs through Saturday, December 14, have been outlined by Robert A. Roe, commissioner of the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Whitetail deer and black bear are both fair game for licensed hunters during the six-day season, from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. Deer hunters who encounter fox may shoot them, but it is illegal to pursue fox with hounds.

All other seasons have been declared closed by the commissioner, except waterfowl and semi-wild and commercial preserves. Waterfowl hunters must have a federal Duck Stamp and preserve hunters may use only the licensed areas.

Only a 10 to 12 gauge shotgun loaded with buckshot may be used. The bag limit is one buck deer, with antlers at least 3 inches long, and one bear.

Every successful deer hunter must tag his deer immediately and report it to the Division of Fish and Game within 24 hours. Hunters who bag heavy deer should obtain forms for entering the Trophy Deer Recognition Program.

Hunterdon County continues to hold first place in deer abundance, followed by the pine region of southern New Jersey and Warren County. Salem County is said to be good deer hunting ground also.

BOWLING NOTES

Turkeys Gain Tie. Because of the Thanksgiving holiday only three teams were in action last week at the Princeton Lanes on Nassau Street.

Fittingly, the team that prospered the most was Turkey's in the Blue Angels Hi-Y League which climbed from four points back to a 38-38 tie with Missles for first place. Operators is second with 24 and Hi-Lo's fourth with 20.

Bill Skillman rolled 152-183, Willie Rosso had 167-180 and Greg Kline 156-167.

Scores were down in the Nassau League where Jerry Perpetua's 224 was the high single game. Jack Fugill rolled 205 while Doug Renfroe, Joe Lee and Ken Wakefield all had 201s.

Tiger Garage remains on top with 56 points. Grover Lumber has 48 and Princeton Aviation 42. No fewer than five teams are tied for fourth with 40 each: First Aid, Kingston Wine & Liquor, Howe Realty, Hill Climbers and Ben's Auto Body Shop.

Les Gibbs was high man in the A League with 229 followed by Jerry Perpetua and Art Pellichero both of whom had 223. Others: Bill Penelli, 218; Nick Sculerati, 216; Jake Bartolino, 214; Rudy Chart, 212; Hal Frazee, 207, Reno Pellichero, 205; and Jim Kahny, 202.

Balestrieri fattened its lead of two points a week ago to 52-48 over Smith Book Bindry. Antler's has 45, Ivy Inn 44, Applegarth Inn 42, and Princeton Gulf 40.

The Tri-County Firemen's League, the Mixed League and the Business Women's League were idle.

SARA ROSE ROLLS 565

In Women's Bowling League. Sara Rose of first-place Rosso's Cafe rolled a fine 211-205 (565) last week at the Highstown Lanes in the Princeton Women's Bowling League. Her performance was instrumental in Rosso's setting a new high team series for the year of 2,481.

A second new mark — high team game of 894 — was fashioned by Swift's Colonial Diner. Helping set the mark were Doris Van Kirk who rolled a 185 game and Joan Ivins who had 177. Other high scores were a 190 by Charlene Allen of Homes of Merrill, a 186 by Ann Pfister of Turney Motors, a 184 by Pat Large of Cranbury Bank and three fine games by Marilyn Silvester of Rosso's who rolled 183-178-178 — 539. Helen Scott of Cranbury Bank had 177.

There were no changes among the top three teams. Rosso's has 80 points, Cranbury Bank 73, and Turney 62. Swift's Colonial Diner climbed from fifth into a tie for fourth place with Mamel. Each has 55 points.

TIGERS LOSE OPENER

Face Duke Saturday. Princeton's basketball team had the satisfaction Tuesday of leading ninth-ranked Villanova at halftime on the Wildcats' floor, and then had the dissatisfaction of losing, largely through its own mistakes.

From a slim 22-20 advantage at the intermission, the Tigers slipped to a 64-54 defeat — virtually all of the victors' margin coming in the final three minutes. Princeton was even at 43-all and trailed by only 54-51 but eventually, the number of mistakes it made proved more than it could overcome.

As was often the case last year, one man the Tigers could not contain was largely responsible for the outcome. Johnny Jones, a 6-5 forward, hit for 30 points, atoning for a miserable evening he had in Dillon Gym a year ago, when Princeton prevailed, 77 to 53.

Nearly offsetting Jones' accomplishments was the standout game played by John Hummer, lanky 6-7 Princeton junior. He was a fine 10 for-15 from the floor, six for eight from the foul line for 26 points, clearly outplaying the highly-touted 6-8 Villanova sophomore, Huward Porter.

Junior Geoff Petrie was cold as a glacier at the outset, missing his first six shots over the home team's zone but found the range in the second half, finishing with 14 points. Chris Thomforde had 11 and paced the losers in rebounds with 9.

The trouble spot had been located before the game, and the Tigers are hopeful that additional experience will bring along their two neophyte guards, junior John Arbogast and sophomore Eric Neuman. They made a lone field goal between them and contributed to the costly losses through inaccurate passing, palming and walking that plagued Princeton throughout the game.

Saturday will send the Orange and Black to Madison Square Garden for a 3:30 meeting with favored Duke. The contests to be preceded by one pitting Columbia against NYU, was once scheduled to open the jinxed Jadwin Gymnasium.

Tuesday will find the Tigers on the road again for a game against Maryland at College Park. They'll open at home Saturday, December 14, against Navy.

Community Is Apathetic.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As members of the Student Council of Princeton High School, we were quite dismayed at the announcement of Mr. Kenneth Michael's resignation as our principal. We feel that he has been and is confronting the many problems of our school with a unique understanding and sensitivity.

We know we cannot persuade Mr. Michael to stay; therefore we must do everything possible to help him make this year a step forward. But it is not only up to us to support Mr. Michael in his endeavors; the Princeton Community as a whole must become aware of the many problems within the high school: drugs, discipline, the racial issue for example, as these are outgrowths of the society in which we all live. They do not begin and end at Princeton High School.

Many members of the Princeton Community seem to have taken Mr. Michael for granted; they have been apathetic concerning issues at the high school. It is time for Princeton to wake up and look.

The high school and the community are losing a fine man. We must give Mr. Michael our support. The highest tribute we can pay him is to try harder than ever to help solve the many crucial problems which face him now.

Mr. Dietz and the Resistors.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Reading the story in Town Topics last week about the RESISTORS and their joint programs on electronics and computers with the Princeton Junior Museum, we were reminded of the Princeton businessman who introduced these topics in the Museum. It was Mr. Elmer Dietz, manager of the Princeton office of New Jersey Bell Telephone Company until his retirement last year.

Mr. Dietz gave us his interested help from our first year, when he recruited Telephone Company "Old Timers" to set up a system with antique crank handled telephones in the Museum.

He also arranged a Spring vacation field trip that took forty grade school children to see the computing machine and data-processing equipment in New Jersey Bell's accounting offices in Trenton and another guided tour of the local automatic switching operations automatic switching operations. Every year he was helpful in making available to the Museum the New Jersey Bell educational materials that are distributed through schools.

It was Mr. Dietz who first described to us the wonders of the RESISTORS' harmful of computers and communications equipment, and encouraged us to make contact with them for benefits to both organizations. For this, and for all his other contributions he must surely feel well rewarded by the interest and pleasure Princeton students have taken in the programs he helped get started.

Don't Let Michael Go!

To the Editor of Town Topics:

After reading TOWN TOPICS of November 21, I was moved to express my sadness at the proposed resignation of Principal Kenneth Michael. Having graduated in 1967, my years in Princeton High School were the first four years of Mr. Michaels burdensome job as principal.

They were four years I will not forget, and my memory holds a large place for him as an administrator and as a friend. He was continually concerned with improving all aspects of the school and aiding each individual.

I cannot remember a time when he was not there to help any student who came to him. Now, being enrolled in a large university, I can well appreciate the personal interest he showed in the students.

Last year and this fall have been very difficult for all involved in education, and Mr. Michael has done what appears to be an excellent job in easing tensions. He has gone to meetings, talked to administrators and parents, and most importantly, talked to the students.

Such issues as illegal drug use and racial conflicts are not just problems to him, rather, they are deep concerns. His actions have been well thought out. Not only has he tried to end the tensions, but he has tried to find their source and prevent their recurrence.

I believe he has done the best job possible in improving Princeton's high school and in being a principal. He gained my trust and confidence. I only wish he could reach out to more of you.

Yet it appears the situation has understandably pressured him beyond endurance. Mr. Michael has said the school needs a change; I say the school needs Mr. Michael.

If he leaves, I only hope Princeton can realize it is losing a great administrator, a great friend and a great man.

Dubious Methods Charged.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

This is in response to a letter entitled Fact vs. Rumor which appeared in the TOWN TOPICS of November 28 concerning a proposed postal depot operation. The contents of that letter is a graphic demonstration of the dubious methods that have been used to promote this postal depot in a location which does not conform with the zoning laws of the Township of Princeton.

Let us consider the facts and rumors.

Fact 1: The following is a quote from a letter concerning the location of a postal distribution installation in Princeton, dated January 8, 1965 and addressed to Congressman Frank Thompson Jr. from J. J. Doherty, Regional Director, Post Office Department, Philadelphia Regional Office. "The matter of rezoning will be handled by the Municipal authorities in accordance with local regulations and practices which include public hearings at which interested persons may present their opinion. I would like to stress that the Federal Government is not exerting pressure of any sort upon the local authorities to force rezoning action. We have discussed our plans and problems with these officials and will abide by the decision that is reached." (signed J. J. Doherty, Regional Director).

Fact 2: Small property owners in the immediate area of the proposed postal depot location have already spent $4,000 on legal fees to enforce a zoning law which was written to protect all the people of our town.

Fact 3: The largest mail load on the present postal depot comes from organizations such as RCA, ETS, FMC, etc., all of which are located outside Princeton Township and do not pay taxes here!

Fact 4: The Princeton Township Committee, the legally elected ruling body of this community, has twice ruled against the location of a postal depot operation in a non-conforming area. These rulings came after many intensive public hearings in which the public made clear their desire to uphold the zoning laws of our town.

Fact 5: The promoters of the postal installation have soft-pedalled the fact that the main function of the installation will be a mail distribution-depot warehouse operation going 18 to 20 hours per day with trucks, traffic, and noise during this period — just across the street from private residences.

Fact 6: The U.S. Post Office Department has access to the areas in the township which are zoned for service type operations. These properties are along Route 206 (near Mary Watts), along lower Alexander Street (near the Boice Lumber Company) and on Route 1. All the Post Office Department has to do to get any property it wishes is to use its power of eminent domain if no property owners in this area are willing to lease land for this purpose.

Fact 7: The Township Hall is located in a Residential R-5 area but it has been in that area years before the present zoning law was written.

Fact 8: The Borough Hall is located in a Residential R-1 zone. But the Borough Hall is not located in the Township.

Rumor: "Princeton Township will probably lose its mailing address." Can the property owner who wrote this statement in his letter, document it?

The U.S. Post Office Department, after assuring the people of Princeton Township that it would not locate a postal installation in a non-conforming area and after Congressman Frank Thompson urged the Department not to locate in such area, signed a 20-year lease with the interested property owner before a court judgment was made on an appeal by the interested property owner. Did this signing of the lease have any prejudicial affect on the outcome of the appeal?

I want to make it crystal clear that we who are opposing the location of the Postal Depot in a non-conforming area oppose it only on those grounds. We are perfectly aware of the poor working con-

Grape Dispute Gets a New Wrinkle

Housewives picketing against the purchase of California table grapes, in support of Cesar Chavez and his farm workers, have been joined on the picket line by another housewives group, which is urging shoppers to disregard the boycott.

An organization calling itself Housewives United To Protest Food Supply couldn't produce any housewives at the Shopping Center Saturday afternoon, but did have three men passing out leaflets attacking the boycott.

The three, who refused to give their names, because they said they "feared reprisals from leftist organizations," claimed that the boycott was threatening the country's food supply. Explaining that the strike was controlled by the Communist, one man pointed out that if this boycott was successful, the Communists could use the same tactic to eventually gain control of the country's entire food supply.

He said that Cesar Chavez was a marxist, and that those around him were Communist sympathizers or dupes. He emphasized that the grape pickers in California were being terrorized and forced to go along with the strike. He estimated their pay averaged out to about $4 an hour, or about $43 a day.

The men said that their facts came from the leaflet they were distributing. The leaflet had a post office box in Bricktown, N. J. as an address. None of the men could give any details about the organization they represented.

One, who said he lived in Princeton, also said he was a member of the John Birch Society. The other two said they lived in Princeton Junction. The three said they plan more picketing in the future, and would also attempt to persuade Davidson's market to put grapes back on its shelves.

The Princeton Citizens' Committee for a California Grape Boycott is continuing its efforts to have the A&P and Acme remove the grapes. Its position is that the workers are underpaid and do not enjoy the rights and benefits of the majority of American workers.

The leaflet states that "the growers have rejected all efforts to negotiate the dispute and have imported illegal labor to break the strike." The committee urges shoppers not to buy grapes until the growers recognize Cesar Chavez and the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee.

ARCHITECTS CHOSEN

For YMCA-YWCA Addition. The Board of Trustees of the Princeton YMCA-YWCA Corporation has chosen the firm of Collins, Uhl and Hoisington as architects for the new YM YW Gymnasium and Program Facilities building.

The new building, which will be added to the present facilities on Avalon Place, will provide space and equipment for all YM-YWCA members.

A nursery area will make it possible for parents to participate in programs while their children are cared for. The gymnasium facilities will provide basketball, dance, judo, fitness classes, handball and squash courts.

The building committee is continuing its campaign to raise $1,300,000, begun two years ago. About $500,000 in ditions many of our postal employees must endure in the present depot facility. We are most anxious to see a new facility constructed to relieve these poor conditions — but the elimination of one poor condition cannot be justified by creating another poor condition in our town.

It is unfortunate that private citizens, who must work full time for their livelihood, have to continue to fight real estate professionals who can retain full time (income tax deductible) legal aid. Private citizens have to fight on their own time, with their own money (non-deductible) to uphold the law. The burden is great especially for home owners of modest means — but we shall overcome!

News Of The CHURCHES

MRS. McALPIN ELECTED To Trinity Vestry. Mrs. David H. McAlpin became on Monday the first woman in the history of Trinity Episcopal Parish to be elected to the vestry.

"We are very pleased to put forth the nomination of Mrs. McAlpin," Sydney G. Stevens, chairman of the nominating committee, said at the annual parish meeting. Her election met with applause.

Mrs. McAlpin, a member of Trinity Church since 1942, serves on the Altar Guild and as chairman of the devotions committee of the Episcopal Churchwomen, for whom she leads a Bible Class each Lent. She is a member of the board of Spelman College, a Negro women's college in Atlanta, Ga., and of St. Martin's Retreat House, Bernardsville.

Mrs. David H. McAlpin

The parish named by unanimous vote G. Reginald Bishop Jr. as senior warden, and K. Evan Gray as junior warden. George J. Adriance and Stuart Duncan were also elected to the vestry.

Those retiring are Sydney G. Stevens, senior warden; F. Paul Henderson and Frederic Milholland.

YULE HOUSE TOUR SET In Miniature. Federal and other period doll houses, each with a history of its own, will be displayed in Christmas trim at Trinity Church on Monday, December 16, through Wednesday, December 18. The doll houses will be exhibited from 2 to 5 p.m. in Pierce Hall.

The Episcopal Churchwomen are sponsors of the miniature house tour. Mrs. Porter N. Lea is decorations chairman, and A. Perry Morgan will do the staging.

The exhibit includes a copy of a Virginia Federalist period house, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sturhan and made for their grandchildren. The model of an old Somerset County farmhouse was made by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Armstrong, former residents of the original, and is loaned by Mrs. William D. Flanders.

Also, an English Tudor-style house, belonging to Mrs. George C. Young; a brownstone, made in 1960 for Miss Lucy Whittemore, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. James Whittemore, and a 58-year-old Victorian gingerbread house, typical of the New Jersey shore area, exhibited by Mrs. S. K. Hollister Jr.

Chances are being sold on a miniature 18th Century secretary desk, a copy of the desk in the Trinity library, made by Redman Marrow. A small admission fee will be charged.

JUNK OR NOT?

Several customers have remarked that they were glad I hadn't spotted cheap junk around my shop. Others feel I should have more inexpensive stuff for the "ice cream cone lickers." But frankly it offends my sensibilities, and I don't like inferior merchandise. It may be too early to tell whether I am making a mistake. My father always said I had champagne taste, but I have noticed that whenever I compromise I have made a mistake. And too, I have noticed and find painful, the difference between cheap and poorly made articles and those produced by craftsmen. Not only are they a delight to the eye, but they are pleasant to hold and usually wear better, unless it's crystal which does require more care. Lots of new things are here, and more is on the way. So if you have champagne appetites and want the best in contemporary design, See . . .

LAND OF THE SKY

FOR TRIMMING

Be different with unusual ornaments: Blown glass fish, stars of straw, glass birds, angels carved from wood shavings, painted gnomes from Sweden. Fill a bowl with velvet grapes, or use miniature apples, pears and berries for candeleering or Della Robbia wreaths. Over 15 varieties of cones; also wreaths, greens and roping.

FOR LIGHTING

Make your tree glisten with long lasting Italian lights in many shapes — snowbirds or snowmen, stars, candles, cones and many others. Miniature lights 35 to a string for outdoors or in. Set your table aglow with imported hand decorated and sculptured candles.

FOR FLYING

Mobiles — Watch a school of flying fish sail by or feather cherubs flutter in the breeze. Let red glass cardinals or royal bluejays catch the light in your window while white doves, feathered ducks, carved and painted song birds fly around the tree. Many intriguing feeders for the birds outside too.

LIVING TREES
For planting outside after the holidays — Blue Spruce, Norway Spruce, White Pine and Douglas Fir.

CUT TREES
From table top size to 8 feet and over—Blue Spruce, Scotch Pine, Balsam and Douglas Fir.

WHEATSHEAF LANE . . . on one of Princeton's loveliest streets, this little gem of a house is ideal for a couple dreaming of retirement. First floor: living room, dining room, modern kitchen with a screened deck just out the back door where one can loiter over a late breakfast and listen to the music of Harry's Brook in the back yard . . . plus 2 bedrooms and a brand new tiled bath. Downstairs: a large recreation room, with bar, with a door to the back yard. The lot is small and easy to maintain, but the trees and shrubs are so luxuriant that they create a privacy which you will prize forever. New refrigerator-freezer and combination washer-dryer are included in the sale . . . also, wall to wall carpeting throughout the house, and some furniture in the recreation room. (*) $37,000

NEW COLONIALS . . . built by one of Princeton's most dependable builders, these fine new homes are located among tall trees on a quiet cul-de-sac in West Windsor Township. For commuters, only three minutes away from the railroad station. All six homes will be ready for occupancy in the Spring. 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, family rooms. Now is the time for you to make your choice, while you're still able to choose colors, equipment, etc. Your children will love the area, for there are many playmates in this young neighborhood. By all means, see these fine homes before you decide. Priced in middle 40's.

WALK TO SCHOOL . . . in one of Princeton's fine neighborhoods most favored by executives and commuters, this excellently maintained residence is close to Littlebrook School. Living room with fireplace, dining room, modern kitchen, recreation room, den (or 5th bedroom), bath. Upstairs, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. Central air-conditioning. Wall-to-wall carpet in living room, hall, stairs, two bedrooms. Brick patio. Oversize two-car attached garage. Outdoors, in the excellently landscaped grounds, there is a very large (25x50) swimming pool, constructed in 1961. Lots of playmates for your children, close to home. (*) $50,000

MANY EXTRAS . . . here is a beautiful home in a very nice new neighborhood in Lawrenceville where your children can find many, many playmates. 5 bedrooms, 3 baths, central air-conditioning. However, a mere recital of rooms and other such details will never give you the true picture of this property. What makes this fine home so unusual is the fact that the owners have put so much more into their house — base-board heat, for example, so that the extra investment in duct work enables them to freshen the indoor air in Winter when they entertain; wall-to-wall carpeting; a pair of real old carriage lamps beside the front door; a larger than usual deck outside the dining room; a TV antenna with rotor; special landscaping . . . the list is really quite long! Add up all the extras, and you'll agree that this is an excellent value. $47,500

LAWRENCE . . . two-story stone and frame Colonial, located in a fine residential neighborhood with many towering trees. Large living & dining rooms. Lovely new kitchen, plus butler's pantry. Two fireplaces, 6 bedrooms, 4 baths and powder room. Located near a college and across the road from a golf club, this fine home is a place you'll love to live in and always be proud of. $79,500

BROOKSTONE . . . in one of Princeton's most beautiful wooded areas, this large brick and frame residence, with central air-conditioning, has a spacious foyer, large living room with fireplace, dining room, library with fireplace, modern kitchen, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, powder room and, on the second floor, a huge upstairs family room. Two acres of land, with beautiful trees and shrubs. This is a large house, designed and built for people of means. You'll benefit from all the thoughtful care this fine home has had, and you'll always be thankful for the landscaping which makes the setting so beautiful . . . and so perfect! $115,000
